Substitutes Likely In Jeff El. Classes

A 'Major Breakthrough' Could Change D.C. Teachers Plans

By WILL E. THOMAS

Picketing of Daly City schools by Jefferson Elementary School District teachers continued yesterday amid dim prospects for settlement by tomorrow of the issues that have prompted the week-long strike.

While there might be some 10,000 children reporting to Daly City's 21 elementary schools tomorrow, in all likelihood they'll be greeted by substitute teachers.

The regular teachers are on strike and unless conditions — a major breakthrough—changed late yesterday they planned to remain out on the first day of school; and as many days thereafter as it takes to gain ratification by teachers and the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees of a master agreement.

"Unless there is a major breakthrough today," John Dornan of the National Education Association said, "It is very unlikely that there will be a contract by Thursday."

However, Frank. L. Greenwood, the district superintendent, assured parents that school would be opened on schedule, even though substitutes might be used.

"Your Board of Trustees is aware of the fact that such a strike is unlawful in California," Greenwood wrote parents, "and intends to do everything in its power to keep the schools open."

One of the legal actions taken by the district in its attempt to open the schools on schedule Thursday was to obtain a restraining order from Superior Court Judge Melvin Cohn on Friday.

A spokesman for the teachers indicated that wording of the restraining order did not appear to prohibit the teachers from picketing through today.

The order does not prevent informational picketing by the teachers, but does prohibit the 400 members of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association and the American Federation of Teachers' Local 1481 from picketing or demonstrating on school property, from hindering school functions or hinder persons from going on school-grounds, and from any types of retaliation against those persons who do go onto the school property.

In the meantime, negotiations between the teachers and the district over a proposed master agreement continues.

The order, which calls for a show-cause hearing at 9:30 a.m. September 11 was being studied at mid-day yesterday by Peter Galiano, CTA legal counsel.

Superintendent Greenwood has urged parents to make arrangements for private transportation to and from school, since busing will not be implemented until the teachers return to their classrooms.

Greek Immigrant

Daly City Man Likes To Fish And It Saves Five Lives

Andreas Christoforidis is a quiet unassuming electrical contractor who immigrated to the United States from his native Greece with his German-born wife, Edity, in 1967.

He likes to fish and also enjoys boating when he can find the time off.

And because of these two loves five people are alive today.

In the past three months "Andy" has aided in the rescue of five persons—all involved in water-connected accidents.

Saturday, Andy left his home at 144 Westmoor Avenue, Daly City, and decided to do a little fishing at Fort Point under the Golden Gate bridge.

The tides and currents in that area are treacherous, but the fishing is good.

Carol Ann Colavecchio, of 1135 Francisco Street, San Francisco, and a male companion, Albert Peloquin, 33, of Irvine, had been visiting the historic landmark and were driving away when their 1957 Mustang convertible went out of control and lurched through a wire guard rail.

Before they could jump, the vehicle broke through the cable and plunged into the frothing surf 20 feet below.

Christoforidis and an unidentified young man immediately jumped into the sea without hesitation in a gallant rescue attempt.

First the men tied a cable around the car's axle to prevent it from being dragged further out to sea by the pounding waves. Inside the open car, Peloquin was trying desparately to keep Miss Colavecchio's head above the rising water.

The woman was brought ashore and rushed to nearby Letterman General Military Hospital at the Presidio where she was reported in good condition with a possible concussion, lacerations and shock.

Last June 28 Andy and his friend, Paul Saridakis, along with their families, had enjoyed a day of boating at San Jose's Anderson Reservoir when a message was boomed over the loudspeaker shortly after 4 p.m. that a boat had capsized in the middle of the lake.

Most boaters had already pulled their craft from the water and were leaving the park.

The two men launched their small boat again and sped towards the scene of the accident.

Two men and a 15-year-old girl were barely alive clinging to the sides of their small boat which had overturned in the rough waters.

All three were plucked from the chill water moments before their boat sank to the bottom.

Asked what the trio's names was Andy said he did not know.

"They weren't in any condition to answer questions. And I did not feel like asking them," was his simple reply.

Edity and Andreas Christoforidis

Report On Extension

The first of several reports on the feasibility of extending the Bay Area Rapid Transit system into the International Airport from Daly City is scheduled for October 28.

Already it has become clear to planners undertaking the $557,000 federal aid study that BARTD is the only system that can adequately service the airport which has been jammed with vehicular traffic on an increasing scale in recent years.

But how to move the trains in and out still plagues the planners.

A subway system sweeping into the airport complex from its northern boundary into the central terminal structure was all but ruled out at the outset of talks more than a year ago because of the extensive work that would have to be done in digging through the muddy soil.

The reason this route would have to be underground is to get it out of the way of taxiways, runways and parking facilities.

Another choice being considered, according to BARTD's Larry Dahms, is a station in San Bruno — west of Bayshore Freeway — with a shuttle service into airport terminal buildings.

The now defunct Westbay Rapid Transit District also considered this idea and discarded it some two years ago. They believed commuters would shun such transfers — especially if they carried baggage.

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald some months ago asked BARTD's Gen. Mgr. Bill Stokes if a "stub end" system ending in the airport was being considered whereby the system could be extended on down the Peninsula

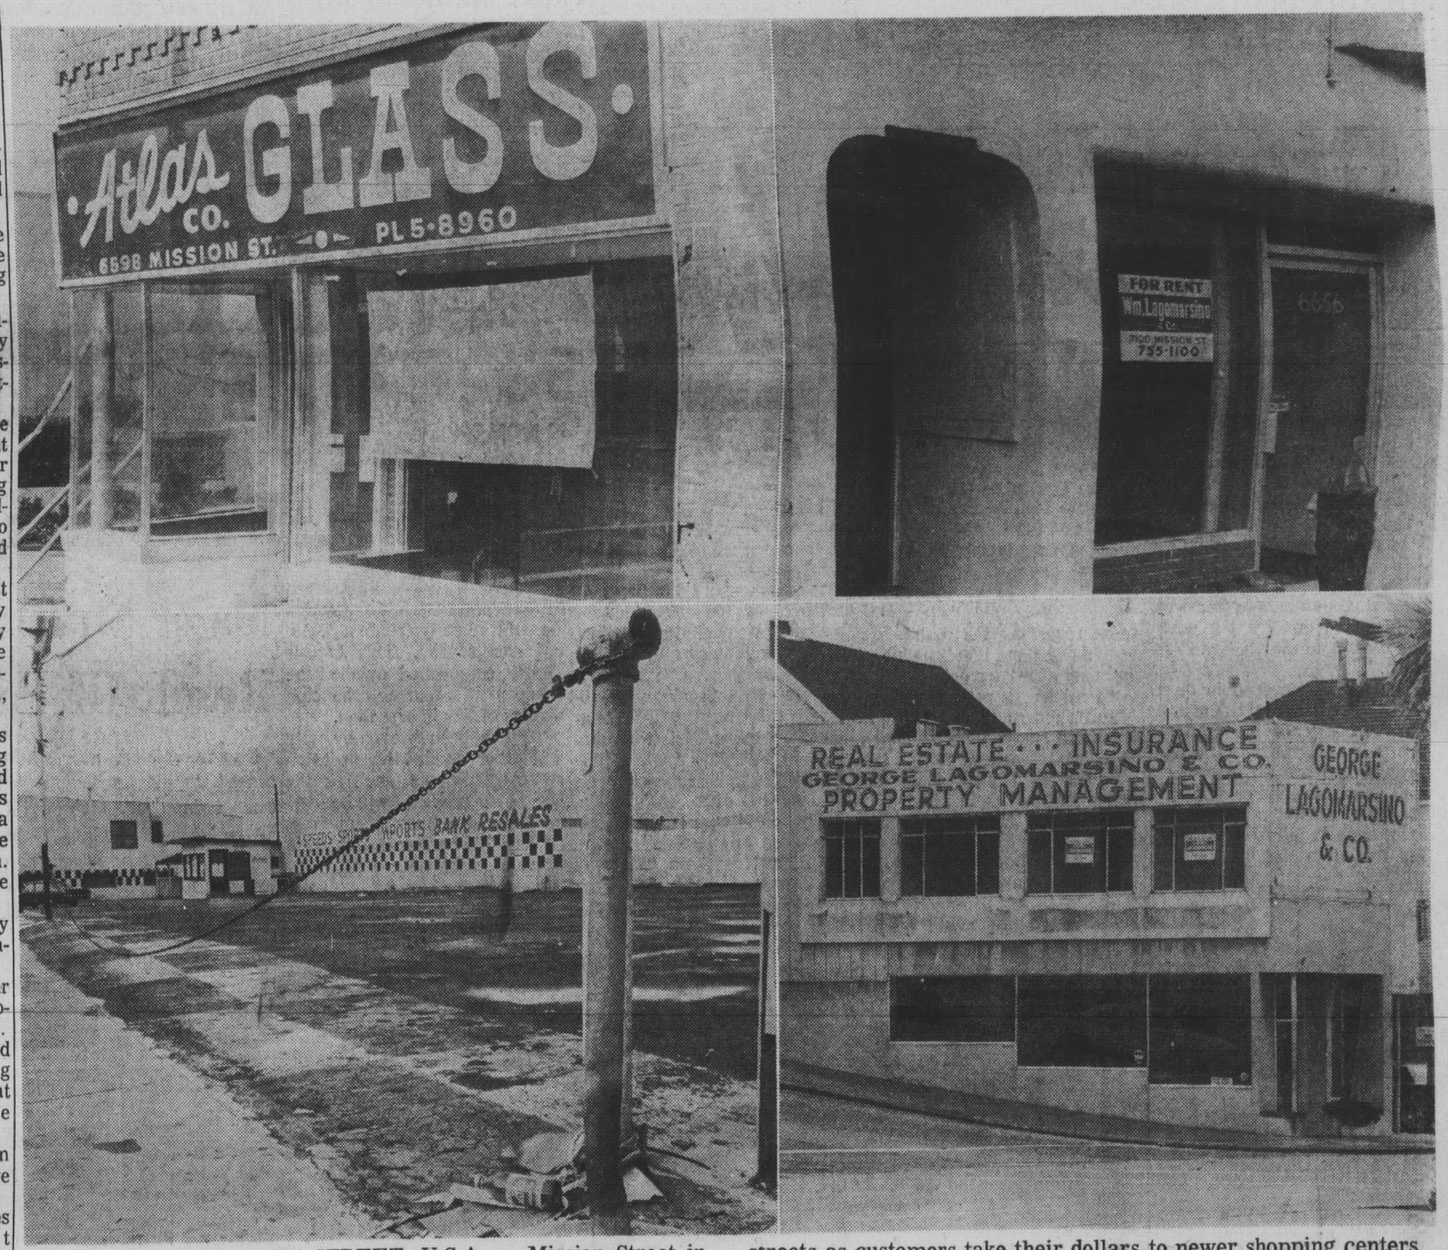
Daly City



THE DEMISE OF MAIN STREET, U.S.A. — Mission Street in Daly City could be "Any Street" in the nation today. A street that was once bustling with customers and noisy with the sounds of cash registers ringing up sales. These empty stores and vacant lots are mute testimony to what is happening to city center shopping streets as customers take their dollars to newer shopping centers outside the heart of a city. How to turn these vacant stores into sales taxes is a question officials are vainly searching for — along with businessmen — in Daly City and other cities today. (Post Photo by Ray Zirkel)

Like 'Main Street, USA,' It's Dying

Mission Street Afflictions

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Mission Street in Daly City could very well be "Main Street, U.S.A."

And like many Main Streets throughout the nation today day Mission Street is dying. It's dying from numerous afflictions.

Many small storekeepers blame the exodus of shoppers to the outlying shopping centers—themselves a conglomeration of small and large stores mingled together under one roof.

They blame inadequate parking spaces along streets that were designed a century ago.

They blame rising taxes and rents.

In fact, they blame everything and everyone, but hardly ever themselves.

Mission Street, Daly City, was once the bustling center of all activity in this Peninsula gateway city. It had a trolley line that cut through the center of town. A wide street with a variety of stores — everything from saloons to ice cream parlors.

And then came the shopping center.

Business dropped off as more and more people found the convenience of the centers more to their liking.

Today Mission Street is in its final death throes, shunned by most shoppers in favor of the new larger centers where one can purchase anything and everything in air-conditioned comfort — with ample parking space.

Where once 280 businesses flourished, there are now 22 vacant stores and 10 empty auto sale lots.

The two-mile long stretch of roadway has boasted only six new buildings in the past ten years.

Mission Merchants' Association President Vince Merlo, a tavern owner at the Top of the Hill section of the street, said that ten years ago people "waited in line to rent a store."

Now, it's increasingly harder to find anyone that will even consider renting one of the vacant stores.

This exodus started 17 years ago with the opening of the Westlake Shopping Center, Merlo said.

But the shopping centers are not the sole reason for the demise of the street.

Merlo blames lack of parking and explained that there are only eight parking meters along the street in some sections for 13 stores.

More off-street parking is needed — and fast.

Is that the only thing plaguing the street?

"Of course not. The stores are deteriorating and the type of leases most stores have in effect discourage occupants from fixing up the building," Merlo explained.

He said absentee owners can kick out the occupants almost at will.

"Who wants to fix up their store when they could be forced out onto the street tomorrow?" he challenged.

Like most other businessmen along the street, and city officials, Merlo agrees that redevelopment in one form or another has to come.

Perhaps private funding is the answer? He doesn't know!

such as milk, included, since school cafeterias will not be functioning.

Greenwood has asked parents who "may be qualified to help," who have a valid California teaching credential and are not now employed, to have their names placed on the substitute list.

"If you have never taught, but hold a college degree, you might qualify for a provisional credential for substituting purposes," Greenwood said.

Substitutes will receive $40 a day, according to board of trustee action last week.

This particular move brought some criticism from Mrs. Hemphill, who noted the previous pay for substitutes to be $26.

She said yesterday she was "kind of concerned" about his (Greenwood's) recruitment of substitutes.

Stating that the issue "ultimately is going to be resolved at the table," Mrs. Hemphill said, "filling classrooms with unqualified personnel might keep schools open, but it will not guarantee education is taking place."

To fill classrooms with "unqualified personnel is making a mockery of education," she said adding, "That is indication of the disregard for qualified teachers held by the superintendent."

Greenwood advanced that "many teachers" opposed the strike, "but fear of reprisals from their professional association and criticism of their peers prevents them from assisting us in our attempts to keep the schools open."

Other developments were expected to come out of two meetings last night.

A group called a gathering of all Daly City parents for the purose of obtaining parental opinion on the strike, and the Board of Trustees was meeting with its negotiator at the same time, prior to its regular public session.

Pickets returned to the district's schools, the administrative building and a warehouse after the Labor Day holiday, during which negotiating continued on the primary issue in the dispute between trustees and teachers, acceptance by the district of a master agreement.

Such an agreement would spell out the numerous policies that rule district activities, groundwork for grievance and impasse procedures and teacher involvement in varied situations within the district.

Trustees apparently have yet to accept the master agreement concept to this point.

Some "progress" in the talks between the district's striking teachers and the Board of Trustees was reported by the president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, Mrs. Joan Hemphill.

Speaking for the 400 teachers who refused to report to their classrooms for pre-school activities last Thursday, vowing not to return until a master agreement has been ratified by both "sides" in the pact dispute, she said she was "optimistic" with the talks with the official district negotiator, attorney Paul Hupf.

There remained some caution on her part, however.

"This is Tuesday," she said, "and school starts Thursday." She thought they had "better hurry up, for it takes time to get it (the agreement) ratified," adding, "There are formalities after they come to agreement, and I'm a little edgy about that."

Stokes assured Fitzgerald he was strongly in favor of a line into the new terminal building with a stub end jutting southward in case the system were to be extended toward San Jose someday.

The best method for gaining entry into the airport, most transit officials feel, is to sweep into the airport from San Bruno, across the freeway, up the center of the main vehicle entry into the third level of the terminal.

And while this would involve additional monies in reinforced pillar supports for the building itself, it would also provide convenience for passengers using the airport.

Jeff Move To Counter Strike

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees last week began gearing themselves legally for the possibility their teachers will not be inside their classrooms when school opens September 10.

Following an executive session, the Board of Trustees approved resolutions that declared:

—Absences by teachers exceeding five days and without satisfactory explanation would be tantamount to resignations, and absences by teachers would result in pay deductions unless illness is involved, and a claims of illnesses must be verified by a physician.

—The district will pay up to $40 daily for substitute teachers, if regular teachers fail to show up.

—The superintendent take such immediate emergency steps as he deems necessary to insure the physical and educational well being of students, employes and properties.

The trustees also approved a letter, to be sent all teaching personnel, stating it was the board's "understanding" that the JCTA intends to call a strike on the first day of school, and pointing out that to do such would be a "breach of contract."

The breach, the letter is to state, will result in loss of salary and fringe benefits, as well as a possible break in tenure for longtime teachers.

It will reiterate that illnesses must be authenticated, and urged teachers to continue to perform their duties pursuant to their contracts.

Deputy District Attorney James Foley also was authorized to take whatever legal actions necessary to insure the welfare of the district, including, but not limited to a restraining order.

Mission Street: Shunned, Dying

Frank Pacelli conducted a survey-study of the area and admits he still doesn't know the answer to the problem.

His suggestions for breathing new life into the district — which could net sales tax revenues in the millions of dollars if rejuvenated — ranged from off-street parking lots operated by the city to redevelopment of the area by private or federal funds.

First the street and surrounding area has to be declared a redevelopment project by the city fathers.

Many businessmen are hanging their last hope around the neck of BARTD which will build its Daly City terminus station only two blocks away from the top of the hill section of the street.

Some planners have suggested a moving sidewalk be installed between the station and the business district.

Mission Street is an ideal street for motor traffic. Ask any one of the 200 merchants located there.

"The problem is stopping the traffic and getting them to shop," Merlo pointed out.

Councilman McRobert Stewart, himself a Mission Merchant Association member recommends an indepth feasibility study of the needs of the area be initiated right away.

"We should investigate every angle . . . seek ways and means to purchase empty lots for parking, if that's what is needed," Stewart said.

He said the question is, "How deep do we want to go on this?"

There are many things that can be done to upgrade the street: Off-street parking attractive new stores, construction of a mall-like shopping center.

All ideas take money — something the merchants are a little short of these lean days.

Redevelopment, then, is the only answer, most feel.

"It must be done in stages with the present occupant having the right to come back in if he desires. It must be accomplished in whole sections," Merlo feels.

Others agree.

If the street is rebuilt piecemeal nothing will have been accomplished, officials and merchants agree.

The master plan for the area, completed in 1967 at a cost of $105,000 in federal, state and city monies, outlines great hope for the Mission Street street area — beautiful shopping malls, view office buildings, tree-lined streets.

Meantime, the "little guys" are hanging on by their fingernails, month to month, waiting for someone with a cure that will save them from the cancer that is gradually killing them all.

Group Rebuts In Overpass Controversy

Proponents of the controversial proposed overpass in South San Francisco have offered a rebuttal. Opponents have issued a new statement. And a former councilman gets in the fray.

A Citizens' Committee for Pedestrian Safety (CCPS) press release says, "We would like to cast a rebuttal against remarks made by opponents concerning (CCPS) statements on the ballot informational sheet."

The opponents, Citizens for Responsible Government (CRG), earlier stated that the CCPS is "making false and misleading statements to purposely confuse and deceive the public and voters of South San Francisco."

The CRG proceeded to disect the CCPS ballot statement on the necessity of the proposed overpass at Camaritas and West Orange Avenue.

CCPS are replying that "We certainly did not expect a statement such as 'all bike and walking traffic to the library, etc., will use this intersection' to be taken literally, that is to mean 47,000 people (the city's population) would use the overpass."

As to the statement made and attacked that 20,000 vehicles a day would pass the area, CCPS said "We are only quoting the experts' survey. In fact they project 25,000 vehicles per day within 20 years.

"We also agree that there are other areas in the city in need of better pedestrian safety," said the CCPS release. The question now is this area. Two wrongs have never made a right."

The CCPS said their statement regarding the future cost of the overpass, if defeated now and then at a later date decided to be needed, is not misleading.

According to their release, it has been stated more than once at council meetings that if the overpass is removed from the original plans, (which to date it hasn't been) the county, acting as the purchasing agent for anchor lands, would be off the hook. This would mean the California Golf Club property anchor point land would revert back to the Golf Club, says CCPS.

"Once this land has frontage along the expressway, it has to be worth more money. Even the opponents of this issue are not so naive as to believe this land will still be available in six months or a year," said the CCPS release.

As to the statements about a letter former Police Chief John Fabbri was to have sent to Director of Public Works Lou Goss that the decision of the overcrossing should be put off until traffic patterns have been established after completion of Westborough Boulevard, the CCPS release said:

"It was reported at council meetings by the opposition that the chief was definitely against it. Now they interpret it as 'wait awhile.' In this same letter it was stated 14 people were observed crossing this street at this intersection. Yet two years later, in February 1970, at this identical crossing a survey report stated over 400 people, mostly children, crossed this same area in one day."

CCPS release said, "The way the contracts read cancel out any possibilities of a waiting period. Pentalties would be invoked adding to the cost."

According to CCPS, "the most misleading fact in the whole issue has been the statement made (the release didn't say by whom) that taxes will go up if the overpass is passed.

"We repeat, this money was allotted and is drawing interest. This overpass will not raise taxes. These are the facts and we stand by our statements."

Meanwhile, CRG issued a new statement saying, "The proponents of the pedestrian overcrossing are toying with the lives of children and the taxpayers money."

"Rather than creating safety for the children, this overcrossing will actually create a potential death trap. This fact is clearly established by all of the experts who have conducted studies of this intersection.

"It has been proven by state and other studies that pedestrian overcrossings such as the one being proposed will be little used unless a fence or some other physical barrier is created to prevent pedestrians from walking across the street."

According to CRG this is the reason the state refused to contribute to the Clay Avenue Overpass until fences were erected forcing pedestrians to use the overpass.

"However, it is absolutely impossible to fence off this intersection (West Orange, Camaritas and Westborough extension) and prevent pedestrians and cyclists from freely crossing the street."

The CRG release also stated that "the dangerous condition" of the intersection becomes evident "when you realize that if the overpass is constructed, signals for pedestrians will be eliminated.

"Thus, pedestrians who do not feel like walking over 360 feet of overpass when they can simply cross the 95 foot intersection will do so without physical barriers to prevent them, and without proper signal safety devices to protect them."

Former Councilman Andrew Rocca threw in with those opposing the overpass, saying, "Although I am no longer a public servant, I am still a taxpayer and concerned citizen.

"As a former councilman, I feel that when an issue of this magnitude and importance is put before the voters, I should speak out on it."

Major Structural Damage Result Of Pacifica Blaze

Flame, heat and smoke caused "major structure and content damage" to the Fred R. Keith home in Pacifica Saturday night while its owners were away on a camping trip.

Pacifica Fire Captain Joe Hill, in charge of the Linda Mar station, said the fire at 1155 Crespi Drive gutted the front room, damaged the kitchen and caused major smoke and heat damage throughout.

"Many neighbors" reported the blaze at 11:45 p.m., Hill said, 1½ hours after a party hosted by 17-year-old Douglas Keith broke up.

A cigarette might have caused the fire, Captain Hill said, although investigation is continuing by fire officials. No monetary estimate of damage to the four bedroom, wood-frame and stucco home was available.

No firemen were hurt in their 3-hour battle and mop-up operation. Linda Mar firemen George Baldwin and Gary Stofan were the first to arrive on the scene

Chain Reaction Wreck In Fog

Thirteen autos, including a California Highway Patrol car, were involved in a chain reaction accident at 6 p.m. Thursday in heavy, wet fog at Skyline Boulevard and Cabrillo Highway in Daly City.

Two persons were treated at Mary's Help Hospital for minor injuries and a highway patrolman was struck by a car and knocked down but was not hurt.

Patrolman Thomas E. Guinane and Milton L. Stark said the long line of cars piled up on the downhill southbound connector ramp from Skyline to the Edgemar Freeway.

Treated at the hospital were one of the drivers, Bernadette Florine McKown, 35, of 16 Cranham Court, Pacifica, and a passenger in another car, Lena Goodman, 15, of 768 Clarinda Avenue, Daly City.

Officer Guinane said his patrol car was struck from behind by an auto driven by Hobart Paul Kern, 51-year-old mechanic of 295 Campana Avenue, Daly City. Guinane said as he got out of his car Kern's auto was struck from behind and pushed into him, knocking him to the pavement.

Two New Captains On The Job For Pacifica Fire Department

Pacifica's fire department has two new captains on the job, Assistant Chief Ken Donahue announced Wednesday.

They are Harvey Georgeson, 30, of 1020 Rosita Court, and Floyd Hack, 40, of 847 Lisa Court, both in Pacifica, who were named by Fire Chief Cal Hinton following written and oral examinations completed last week.

Georgeson, a veteran of nine years with the department, assigned to the headquarters station for six of them, will remain at cental as a shift captain.

He is the permanent replacement for James (Babe) Evans, who was moved up several weeks ago to become the city's fire marshal and fire prevention officer.

Hack, with the department since 1959, has been the engineer in charge of the Linda Mar fire station for five years.

He, too, will be assigned initially to shift duty at headquarters station.

Another captain, John Murphy, is involved in the changes that resulted from the new appointments.

Murphy, who became a captain earlier this year, has become the officer in charge of Linda Mar, marking the first time a captain has held that post.

Donahue said Captain Joe Hill is remaining at headquarters station on shift duty.

First In Series Of Drug Lectures Set At Monte Verde

Kenneth Graham, vice president, Citizens Council on Drug Abuse will be the speaker on September 22 at 8 p.m. at Monte Verde School in San Bruno.

His topic will be "What Is the Problem?" What Are the Drugs?" This will be the first in a series of five lectures given through the Drug Abuse Parent Education Program, jointly sponsored by Monte Verde, Foxridge, and Parkway Schools' P-TA units. This series is a district wide educational program being given with the cooperation of the South San Francisco Unified School District. The lectures will be open to the public, and no charge will be made for attendance.

In order that a maximum number of people can attend, they will be given first at Monte Verde School, Shannon and St. Cloud Street, San Bruno, and then repeated at Parkway School, 825 Parkway Avenue, South San Francisco. Graham will repeat his talk at the Parkway School on September 30 at 8 p.m.

Later topics and speakers include "The School District Approach to Drug Abuse," with Patrick Cannon, Drug Education Coordinator of the South San Francisco Unified School District; "Legal and Medical Problems Resulting From Drug Abuse" with speakers Judge Robert Carey of the San Mateo County Superior Court and Dr. Stanford B. Rossiter, president of the Citizens Council on Drug Abuse; "Law Enforcement and Economics of Drug Abuse" with Officer Frank Cook of the San Bruno Police Department and Sgt. James Swenford of the South San Francisco Police Department; and Phase V and Damien House with Sanford Feinglass, Ph. D., San Mateo County Drug Program, and Damien House personnel, including a film of the work being done by Damien House.

Magnolia Project To Be Finished

Protests by the bricklayers union has prompted South San Francisco councilmen to authorize spending an additional $250 to finish a beautification project at Magnolia Center.

The councilmen originally had okayed $2,500 to complete the project and Superintendent of Park and Recreation Bob Maxey was instructed to use youths employed by the city during the summer to do the work.

According to Maxey, the youths completed "99 per cent" of the work. However when it came to installing a small brick planter in front of the center, he said the bricklayers union objected to use of non-union labor on the project.

Maxey told the councilmen that of the original $2,500 there is a balance of $125. He estimated cost of union labor to construct the planter would be approximately $375, necessitating the additional $250.

Police Catch 2 Escapees

Two escapees from the Adult Conservation Center in Lake County were recaptured on Saturday as they casually walked around South San Francisco shopping center.

Led by South San Francisco Detective Jack Rhoades, a team of three police officers apprehended Jerry Hansen Daubin, 35, and Earl Lesley Jones, 40, at the Brentwood Shopping Center on El Camino Real about 1:30 a.m.

The escapees offered no resistance and were not armed, Rhoades said.

The detective said an alert had been posted for the two convicted felons since their escape on August 30, 1970, from the honor camp. The capture stemmed from information the department had received earlier in the day, he said.

Police would not elaborate on the source of the information.

Daubin was convicted of murder in San Francisco in 1966 and was scheduled to have a hearing next month. At the time of his initial arrest he was a resident of 220 El Campo Drive, South San Francisco.

Jones was convicted of inflicting traumatic injuries on a child in 1967 while he was a resident of Half Moon Bay.

Authorities in Lake County said the two men walked away from the conservation facility where they had been assigned.

South San Francisco Unified School District trustees have commended the district's business department for investing practices that have netted the district $273,000 interest earned in government securities during the last five years.

Now, Then, Who'll Pay?

Trailer Court Flood Control

Residents of Treasure Island Trailer Court in South San Francisco will have flood protection this year. It is now a matter of who will pay how much for a storm drain system.

Councilmen Wednesday, although not making an outright promise, indicated the city would come up with one half the estimated cost of $60,253.

At earlier study sessions of the council Fred Bertetta, operator of the trailor court, and Oliver Hamlin, representing the property owners, which is a corporation, had sought city financial support, and were of the belief the city would pay half the cost.

Councilmen were told by the men that they had their own plans and specifications and a bid of approximately $80,000 for work, and they wanted to begin before the rainy season set in.

At that time councilmen told the trailer court people to be patient, to seek several bids on new plans and specifications and the city could probably come up with financial aid, as well as possibly other agencies, such as the county.

Since that meeting and prior to the session last week, the city manager, department of public works director and city attorney conferred on the issue.

According to Lou Goss, director of public works, Tom McKenzie, city manager on vacation, recommended the city contribute one-third of the cost of the project. His recommendation was based on a similar storm drain project on 12-mile creek in which the city is contributing one-third of the cost.

Hamlin protested the recommendation. He said he had "carried the ball" as to desires of the city to obtain new bids, and felt the city was being unfair in switching from what he thought was intended—50 per cent participation—to the one-third, two-third recommendation.

"I'm prepared to come up with $30,000 and have it in hand when the contract comes up," said Hamlin.

Goss said that if the job is not finished by the rainy season "there will be some terrific washouts in this area." —B.P.

Parents Questioning Safety Of A Ben Franklin Wing

By WILL E. THOMAS

At least two parents and a Jefferson Elementary School District trustee think an overhangng classroom wing at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School in Daly City might be unsafe and they don't want youngsters in it until there has been a state inspection of the building.

But Supt. Frank Greenwood does not share the concern of Trustee Dorothy Adams, Mrs. Beverly Forrester and Mrs. Tom Kilpatrick.

Greenwood contends there is no need for alarm, based on an engineering report he obtained September 1.

The report from G. A. Sedgwick & Associates stated the firm could "not find that existing conditions indicate the building to be structurally unsafe."

However, the report did advise inspections to determine if a warehouse area constructed by the district, apparently without state knowledge complies with the rules established by the State Office of Architecture and Construction.

It suggested several inspection holes be made in the soffit of the floor overhang to determine if a previous rot condition has spread, or if there are conditions favorable to its future spread.

The firm urged the inspections to "be made without undue delay."

Greenwood told trustees this week he saw little justification for bringing in a state architectural inspector when it might cost the district between $750 to $1,000 to do so.

He thought the state might review the engineer's report, however, without those costs.

The two mothers told of a trip to Sacramento, where they talked with officials in the Department of Public Instruction about the construction of a warehouse beneath the classroom wing in October of 1968.

Greenwood described it as a temporary storage area.

Mrs. Adams afterward wrote Dr. Max Rafferty, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, asking for an inspection. Dr. Rafferty referred the letter to the Division of Schoolhouse Planning, which notified Greenwood's office of the request.

Mrs. Adams said she and Trustee William Schumacher looked at the warehouse and found it to be filled to the ceiling with school furniture along the outside wall.

She said it was her intention to ask that children not be allowed in the classes until it is inspected and declared safe, and she pressed for this on Tuesday.

The fear apparently is that addition of the flooring and the weight of the furniture might be causing greater stress than desirable on the structure, where damage has been corrected in the past.

Mrs. Forrester and Mrs. Kilpatrick said officials in the Schoolhouse Planning division had indicated they had no knowledge of any warehouse construction, asserting, the women said, the division "possibly" would not have approved such plans.

The problems with the 40's wing at Ben Franklin date back to 1966, when engineers were called upon to inspect a window separation. No hazard at the time was found to exist.

But, in March of 1968, dry rot resulting from water damage was discovered in room 40 of the wing, and it was an extensive condition, Greenwood has pointed out to trustees.

All the affected floor was removed he said, new joists and flooring were installed, and supporting posts constructed at the outbound ends of the joists.

In the two years the warehousing area has been in use, Greenwood explained, the building has suffered no ill effects.

He added that the in reased load weight has brought the maximum load to 80 per cent of the engineered design, which, he said, was 3000 pounds per square oot.

No additional separation of window paneling along the west wall in the northernmost two classrooms had been detected, Greenwood said.

This week's engineering report pointed out that the condition of the west wall of the building appears to be generally in the same condition as in 1966 with a possible small increase in the gap at the head of the wall.

It stated that the new storeroom floor is ofseturdy construction and appears to be well built, though noting, "we have not checked the construction for compliance with the rules of the State Office of Architecture and Construction."

It found no visible evidence of foundation settlement.

Trustees agreed to meet September 8, prior to school's opening, to discuss the situation further.

Ruling Sought On 'Conflict'

A request by citizen Morey Tolson that an opinion be obtained from the state's attorney general on whether or not Edward Tomasello's presence on the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees is a conflict of interest is being followed up.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood said the district attorney's office either has filed the request or is in the process.

Tolson sought the ruling in connection with Tomasello's dual role as a trustee and a key administrator in the City of Daly City's recreation department.

Check Is Presented

South San Francisco Police Chief Sal Rosano has presented the city with a check for $5,642.98.

The check is the city's 1969-70 fiscal year allocation from the California Peace Officer Training Fund.

South San Francisco police personnel were among the more than 16,000 statewide city and county peace officers who completed at least one of the 257 Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST) courses, geared for self improvement.

Tree Planting Drive Is Aided

Additional developments have been announced in the "Tree Times Five" tree planting drive by Mrs. Norma Griffith (Councilman Dick Griffith's wife) to reforest San Bruno.

"I am greatly encouraged not only by the initial response of postcards offering help for the plantings to begin in November," said Mrs. Griffith, "but also by a letter received from State Division of Highways District Engineer Alan S. Hart promising to "do everything possible to help in your desire for a beautiful community'."

According to Mrs. Griffith, Hart indicated that considerable quantities of eucalyptus trees will be planted in landscaping the portion of Interstate 380 between Cherry Avenue and El Camino.

"His representative, Dick Pryor, is providing me with preliminary sketches of the landscaping which I hope to put on display in the library," said Mrs. Griffith.

The logistics for the volunteer tree planting drive which Mrs. Griffith is organizing for community hill slopes and lowlands unrelated to the highway landscaping "are developing well."

She said an additional 375 pine trees have been promised through the city's public works department, and "more than 600 eucalyptus of several varieties are available if the minimal funds can be found to purchase them."

$2 Million Suit Filed

A suit seeking $2 million damages has been filed in Superior Court on behalf of a man who claims he was paralyzed as the result of a dive into the swimming pool in San Bruno's municipal park.

Martin Nyman, 26, of 2041 Willow Way, San Bruno, is seeking the amount in a complaint filed.

The suit charges that Nyman suffered a spinal cord injury resulting in paralysis of the lower extremities when he dived into the pool September 25, 1969. It also is alleged that Nyman suffered sexual impotence, internal injuries and emotional mental upset as a result of injuries incurred in the dive.

According to the complaint, the city failed to properly manage, maintain and supervise the park and its facilities and failed to warn of the alleged hazards and dangers of the pool.

Signs For BART Are Approved

Daly City soon will be going international with its roadsigns.

But only in and around th new Bay Area Rapid Transit station at Knowles and Junipero Serra boulevard.

The new international traffic signs, already adopted by the United States for use on highways, will be installed in BARTD parking lots, roadways and in the stations themselves to direct motorists and pedestrians.

If a red slash bar appears on the familiar black and yellow direction marker it means "don't."

This same sign system has been used throughout Europe with good results, U.S. motorists have commented after encountering them.

BARTD's Visual Design Committee heard architect Ernest Born of San Francisco explain how the signs will work and how BARTD will pave the way for changing such signs on U.S. highways and various transportation points.

There is already a manual put out by the Department of Transportation Federal Highway Administration Department on use of the "red bar" symbol as a nationwide marker.

Born said the new manual has not been made public, as yet however, it urged wider use of the international markers.

The architect explained that at first all such signs will have English subtitles until people get used to them.

Sears Names Staff For Bruno Store

W. A. Walsh, manager of Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s store under construction in San Bruno has announced his executive staff.

The nine-man staff will work with the store manager in preparing the 276,594-square-foot store for opening day this fall. In total, they represent more than 75 years of merchandising and administrative expereince with Sears.

Lester N. French, will assume responsibilities of operating superintendent of the new store.

Gerald D. Cox, formerly hardlines merchandise manager of Sears-San Mateo, will assume the same responsibilities for Sears-San Bruno.

Edward C. McComb, formerly manager of Sears-Hayward's San Ramon branch appliance and catalog store will be softlines merchandise manager.

Roy S. Klein, will be the unit's controller.

Seven Bus Shelters Set

Residents of South San Francisco can look forward to at least seven new bus stop shelters in the near future.

Hugo Stoppoloni, superintendent of public works, received approval from the councilmen to purchase building materials for construction of the shelters in various areas of the city.

SSF Department Heads Rip Study

South San Francisco department heads had an opportunity recently to air their positions to councilmen on a classification and salary survey report issued last January.

Most of the city's department heads found fault with the survey, which was prepared by the California State Personnel Board, Cooperative Personnel Services.

Original purpose of the joint councilmen-department head meeting was to discuss the possibility of any department head receiving above the 7½ per cent across the board increase the councilmen granted all employes.

Although no department head gained monetarily from the session, a number took the opportunity to make grievances known.

Fire Chief John Marchi, Superintendent of Public Works Hugo Stoppoloni anl Director of Public Works-City Engineer Lou Goss were the most critical.

Marchi said, "I don't think that survey was a just survey, they didn't consider my position at all. They left me open to the city manager and you (the councilmen) people." He said it was "a lot of money thrown out the window."

The fire chief's main complaint is that there is not a wide enough gap between his salary and that of his immediate staff.

Marchi explained that the education and incentive plan given to the police and fire departments last year excluded the chiefs of these two safety departments and as a result "narrows the salary gap."

He said the 7½ per cent given last year in cost of living, plus the education and incentive plan being equivalent to another 7½ per cent, and a salary adjustment as a result of the survey, gave his staff a 20 per cent raise last year.

The chief explained that he, however, received only a ten per cent raise. This was a result of the 7½ per cent across the board increase and a 2½ per cent salary adjustment "due to the good graces of the council, but nothing from the survey."

Marchi admitted the recent year's increases "has placed our men in a higher salary category than most fire departments and police departments in the country. I feel this is justified, however," he said.

"I don't mean to take away from my staff. I don't begrudge anyone from making whatever they can. But there is no reason for (staff receiving) 20 per cent and me only 10 per cent with 2½ per cent of that because of your councilmen) good graces."

Mayor Partick Ahern noted in passing, "We could give you a little more money."

Marchi replied that "you peole have been most fair in most cases." He went on to explain he felt the fact South San Francisco was an industrial area meant greater responsibility in his position as fire chief.

The chief listed Menlo Park and Palo Alto as having chiefs receiving nigher salaries than himself. He also got into a long discussion with Ahern about the duties and salary of the fire chief at Woodside. Ahern pointed out that Woodside was a fire district. Marchi said that was irrelevant; "the responsibilities as fire chief are the same — fighting fires."

According to Marchi, "the fire chief at Woodside makes over $1,800 a month." Marchi said his pay was $1,705, including longevity. This, according to Marchi is under $300 a month difference between himself and his assistant chief.

"And overtime is involved, which the chief doesn't get," said Marchi. "This (also) narrows the gap."

Ahern said overtime should not be considered.

"Take home pay is what counts, overtime or otherwise," said Marchi. "I still say it's not a fair gap between the chief and assistant chief.

IT'S A FACT

By JACK WILSON

PRINCIPLE

Congressman McCloskey, according to printed and unrefuted newspaper stories, is compromising himself by playing both sides of the fence on principle. On the one hand he is openly campaigning for Mr. Riles while on the other he has done his best to defeat the widow of Medger Evers, the assassinated civil rights leader, in a campaign with Mr. Rousselot, the John Birch Society former spokesman.

Mr. Riles criticized the Regents for firing Angela Davis saying, "The decision should be left to the persons who hired her initially." Since the two men who hired her, Chancellor Young and Professor Kalish, made no secret of their desire to rehire Angela Davis, Mr. Riles' advice would have resulted in her being hired, despite her openly stating that she was a Communist and was making "extremely inflammatory" public statements. Mr. Riles also speaks of morality and busing as unimportant "peripheral issues."

First-Meeting Jitters Felt

Louanne Heath's Datebook

IT IS SEPTEMBER and the new officers are all getting first meeting jitters as the dates for the various clubs to resume their schedules draw nearer.

One of the first to begin her term in office will be Mrs. Gerald Delfino, the new president of the Holy Angels Women's Guild. Her gavel will convene the guild's first session of the fall tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the parish hall and one of the first items of business will be the naming of the various committee chairmen.

While the actual meeting won't begin until evening, Mrs. Delfino will have been hard at her duties since morning for tomorrow is the opening day of school and while the children are finding their way to class and acquaintances are being renewed, all new first grade mothers, and any mother new to Holy Angels School, are invited to attend a "coffee hour" in the parish hall to meet Mrs. Delfino and the members of her executive board.

To launch the year with enthusiasm a candy sale has been planned and the children of the school will begin selling Famous Gourmet Chocolates on Friday in an attempt to raise sufficient funds to purchase new educational television sets for the parish school.

THE ANNUAL CHEESE-WINE TASTING Celebration, sponsored by the Marianist Assistance Fund of Riordan High School will be held on Sunday from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. in the lovely garden patio of the Riordan High School, 175 Phelan Avenue in San Francisco.

According to Mrs. Albert Bucci, an honored guest at the benefit will be Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey Jr., the incumbent congressman from the Eleventh District in California. Samuele Sebastiani and Charles Krug will feature their world renowned wines and outstanding international cheese will be from Marin French Cheeses. Special prizes and interesting gifts will be presented during the afternoon.

Purpose of the fund-raising event is to provide scholarships for the brothers so they may study for their masters and doctorate degrees, Mrs. Bucci explained, and so, to provide more money a silent auction, chairmaned by Mildred Samaha, will be held in conjunction with the wine tasting.

Persons wishing to donate specialty items for the auction may make arrangements to do so by calling Mrs. Francis Bernie of Daly City. Mrs. Bernie, who is the general chairman of the celebration, will be very happy to provide information to anyone wanting to know more about the program or the Marianist Assistance Fund.

MEMBERS OF THE MARY'S HELP HOSPITAL Guild have already begun the year with a workshop, luncheon and business session held the final Monday in August. Next item on the full agenda of the group is a Bingo Box Lunch and happy hour to be held next Tuesday in the Westlake Club House. Helen Corbett is in charge of this occasion which will serve as a fund raiser for the Christmas Boutique.

According to Mrs. Kathryn Glebow, president, Mrs. Joanne Coniglio is the lady to contact about reservations. She may be reached by calling 992-0883, and she will be happy to provide information to anyone interested in the guild's project as well as make reservations for the luncheon.

MRS. JOHN CRONIN, chairman of the champagne Luncheon and Fashion Show of Mercy High School Guild, has announced that the 1970 edition will be entitled November Noel and will be held in Barrett Hall of the high school on November 14 at noon.

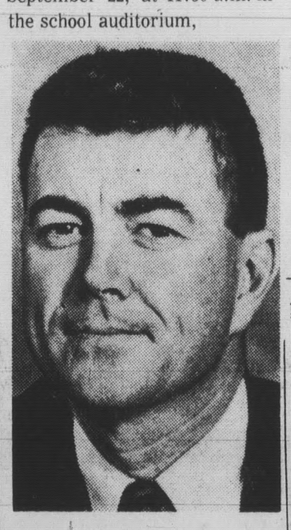
McDonald and Company of Serramonte will present the latest in fall fashions and models will be members of the Mercy Guild and Mercy High School students who will be wearing teen fashions.

Mother, Father Meeting Slated

The Ursuline Guild of St. John's High School will hold a joint meeting of mothers and fathers September 16, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, 4056 Mission Street.

Sister Bernadette will be the guest speaker and will explain modular scheduling for the coming year.

Senior class mothers will serve a chicken luncheon on September 22, at 11:30 a.m. in the school auditorium.



CONGRESSMAN Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey will be an honored guest at the cheese-wine tasting celebration sponsored by the Marianist Assistance Fund of Riordan High School. The benefit party will be held from 2-4 p.m., September 13, in garden patio of high school.

Key DC Flower Show Leaders

Mrs. C. M. Yohn, general chairman of the Daly City Garden Club flower show, has announced several committee chairmen.

They include: Staging, J. K. Fern; entries and conservation, Mrs. H. C. Lyman; publicity, Mrs. L. B. Sweeten; clerks and judges, Mrs. J. K. Fern; hospitality, Mrs. C. F. Rockey.

W. Braas and C. M. Rockey will assist exhibitors with horticultural entries and Mrs. C. J. Dunow will help with flower arranging.

Special educational exhibits will be on display during the two-day show on September 12 and 13. Fuchsia enthusiasts will be especially interested in the hybridizing display by Horace and Daniel Tiret, well-known Bay Area fuchsia growers.

The show will be held at the First Western Bank, 30 Westlake Court.

Swingtime, the most famous of all fuchsias, is one of their creations.

Hybridizing and grafting of roses, queen of flowers, will be exhibited by David Greene of the Golden Bear Rose Society. This exhibit will feature seedlings a day or two old through the first bloom period.

E. A. Noyer, an amateur expert on Oriental lilies, will show a collection of container-grown plants as well as cut flowers of these aristocrats of the garden, and the San Mateo Bromeliad Society will exhibit a collection of these exotic plants.

Bromeliads are sometimes called "vase plants" because of an opening in the center of the plant which must be kept filled with water. Pineapples belong to this family.

Telstars Plan Sept. 11 Dance

The Telstars Junior Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, will hold a dance on September 11 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Abraham Lincoln Elementary School.

Music for the evening will be provided by "The Liberty Union."

This is a membership drive dance, so take a small picture, to be affixed to the new membership card, and $1.

San Bruno Girl Wed In Alaska

The Resurrection Lutheran Church in Juneau, Alaska was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Donna Lee Leiendecker and Dennis A. Simonsen.

For the 10 a.m. service, the church was decorated in blue and gold, the state colors.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Robert Leiendecker of San Bruno who traveled north for the ceremony. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Simonsen of Tok, Alaska.

Donna recited her vows in a white taffeta floor length gown trimmed with wide Venise lace. Her veil was floor length and she carried a bouquet of white daisies with removable center of white roses. She carried the latter when she departed for her honeymoon in the Pacific northwest.

A short blue velvet gown was worn by Linda Brooks of San Bruno the maid of honor, and Carol Simonsen of Tok, the benedict's sister. Both also wore yellow hair bows and carried a single yellow glamelia.

Rod Allen of Juneau attended the bridegroom as best man and Stan Kenniston of Juneau was groomsman. Ushers included the bride's brother, Tom Leiendecker of San Bruno, and John Boddy and Billy Johnson, both of Juneau.

Among the out of town guests who flew to Juneau for the wedding were Corrine Wilcox of Portland, Ore., and Phyllis Lambing of Aloha, Ore. They attended a small informal reception at the church after the ceremony. Locally, the couple will be felicitated by family and friends on September 12 at a reception in Millbrae.

The new matron's going away dress was an olive green three piece suit with tan accessories.

The coronation ceremony of Miss Esperana Flores (left), queen of Fiestas Patrias of Daly City, will be held at the Centro Social Obrero Hall in San Francisco September 12 at 9 p.m. Miss Flores won the crown in a recent beauty contest staged in Daly City participated in by the local Spanish-speaking community. The hall is located at 2929 Nineteenth. Also shown: Marcia Villarreal, a runner-up. (Burton Photo)

A family brunch on Sunday was the occasion for Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Tuck of Hillsborough to disclose the engagement of their daughter, Gail Ann, to Brian Lyle Forbes.

The betrothal was announced at the Hamilton Air Force Base home of Captain and Mrs. John Meyer at a celebration of the baptism of Jennifer Marie Meyer, niece of the bride-to-be.

Newlyweds 'At Home' In Daly City

At home in Daly City after a wedding trip to Mazatlan are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Joe Graham (Selma Odette Samayoa). The couple was married in St. Veronica's Catholic Church in San Francisco and received felicitations at a reception at the South City Elks Lodge hosted by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amil Samayoa.

For her wedding, Selma chose an Empire A-line dress of white organza appliqued with daisies.

Virginia Frieds of San Francisco was the honor attendant. She wore mint green with lace daisies. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Ford, Nilita Lopez, Sandra Lopez, Patricia Gabb, cousin of the bride, and Rendy Graham of Fortuna, sister of the bridegroom. Their dresses were yellow.

Ronald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham of Fortuna, asked Sidney Samayoa, his new brother-in-law, to be his best man. Guests were seated by Roger Graham, brother of the bridegroom, and Lawrence Chew and Mark Watson.

Garden Reception

The garden of the Atherton home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney was the recent setting for the reception which followed the marriage of their niece, MaryJo McGaughey and Patrick John Hethcoat.

The couple recited their vows at a nuptial folk mass in St. Veronica Catholic Church in South San Francisco.

MaryJo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale McGaughey of South San Francisco and her bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hethcoat of Burlingame.

For her wedding, the bride wore a white silk organza gown trimmed with daisies and an elbow length mantilla.

Lilac crepe gowns with velvet trimmed boleros were worn by maid of honor Joele Riccomi and bridesmaids Earlee Hethcoat, sister of the benedict, Janis Rocca, Kate Pierson and Betty Glennon.

Best man for the benedict was Ed Borissier and ushers included Dale Kursten, Jeff Drury, Rich Glennon and Danby Sunia, the bride's brother in-law. Matthew Hethcoat, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Both MaryJo and Patrick were graduated from Peninsula Hospital Radiology School.

THE MARQUEE

A Sense Of Theater In His Novels

Author Ed Corley has a fine sense of drama. Before turning to writing, he organized and built the Actor's Playhouse in Greenwich Village until the pressure of producing conflicted with his job as an advertising director with a major New York agency. He recounted those experiences in a 1955 book "Secrets of Greenwich Village."

His feeling for suspense and excitement catapulted his novel "Siege" onto the best seller lists. That was last year. Now he's back on the book shelves with a gripping, fictional old-fashioned paced account of what might have happened if the atom bomb hadn't worked.

☆ ☆ ☆

"THE JESUS FACTOR" (Stein and Day Publishers $6.95, 319 pgs.) and "Siege" have both been sold to the movies.

"I've written a few others in this year between that have also been bought for films but I don't talk about them because people might think I'm a hack writer," the energetic, disciplined writer told me recently on the Peninsula.

"The Atomic Energy Commission wanted to know where I learned how to assemble an atom bomb. I told them Popular Mechanics magazine and they left me alone."

The publication date coincided (good merchandising) with the anniversary of the bomb drop on Hiroshima. Corley had served in the Air Force in Korea and Japan and both books, as well as his forthcoming work on Air Force No. 1, the President's personal jet, are written from a knowledgeable background.

"My feeling on the bomb after so many years is that it stands as a symbol of how bad global war can be and so saved us from extinction. The symbolic nature of the thing is frightening but its forced some kind of rationality on us."

CORLEY TRACKED down the men involved with the bomb drops in Japan and used them as his characters without identifying them.

"They talked freely, without a sense of guilt. The 500 B29s who dropped 1,000 fire bombs in one night on Tokyo, killing 100,000 people accomplished nearly the same thing. They were used in Dresden, Cologne, Hamburg during World War II. People tend to condemn the instruments of war instead of realizing that it's the war that is so terrible."

The term Jesus Factor has been used for 50 years by engineers, fliers and technologists to define the unexplained failure.

Lawmen Expect Record Crowd For Annual Benefit Dance

A record crowd of Peninsula dance-goers is expected to attend the Forty-first annual Peace Officers Association benefit ball.

The date is September 26, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The place is the San Mateo Fairgrounds at Twenty-fifth Avenue and Delaware Street.

Proceeds from the dance go toward the widows' and orphans' fund.

Vice president Jim Sunderland of the Daly City Police Department is in charge of ball arrangements. He and president Paul Everett of the Pacifica department, note that the association membership today totals in excess of 450 men.

"It is to protect their families that the members seek to develop the benefit fund," explain association officials. "Our board of directors urges all-out public support. Believe me, it certainly boosts a man's morale when he knows the citizens of his community are behind him," adds Sunderland.

Association officers include: Second vice president Sergeant Bill Stephenson of Millbrae; Sergeant-at-Arms Captain Dave Hansen of Daly City; Secretary Fred Caviglia, Inspector Burlingame Police department; Atherton Police Chief Leroy Hubbard, treasurer.

The Pacifica Jaycettes luncheon and fashion show will be September 15 at noon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, 1031 Valencia Way, Pacifica.

Proceeds will begin to build a scholarship fund for graduating Pacifica High School students wishing to attend a local junior college.

Ladies League Luncheon is providing the luncheon fare, and producers' food samples will be given away. The Jaycettes will then show fall fashions, mini, maxi and midi.

Three new members were welcomed into Xi Lambda Phi Chapter, Bata Sigma Phi Sorority, at the Linda Mar home of Virginia Sharp.

Ann Dickson, 3231 Fleetwood Drive, San Bruno, a former member-at-large; Margaret Gatwood, 1459 Crespi Drive, formerly a member of Eta Gamma Chapter in San Bruno, and Thelma Loos, 1048 Granada Drive, formerly of Tau Gamma Chapter, Pacifica, received the traditional yellow rose during the welcom ritual read by President Marion Simmons.

This year's first regular meeting of Xi Lambda Phi will be held at the Sharp Park home of Dorothy Plasquez on September 15.

Registration for the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department's Tiny Tot Program will be September 16-17, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the recreation building at Orange Memorial Park.

A fee is payable at the time of registration, and preregistration is mandatory for enrollment in the activity.

Auditions will be held in the cultural room of the Sharp Park Library on September 13 between 2 and 5 p.m. and on September 9 and 10 between 7 and 11 p.m.

This will be the second production of the 1970-71 season. The first will be "There's Always a Murder."

Spends Time In Training At Hospital

Once a year William Hagen turns over the operations of Hagen's of California, a local women's fashion shop at 548 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno to his assistants and dons an Army uniform for two weeks.

LTC Hagen is training officer for GOCOM which in layman's English means he oversees and coordinates the training for the United States Army Reserve Hospital (6253D), which is headquartered in the Presidio of San Francisco, and has detachments in Sunnyvale, Fort Ord, Sacramento, and Reno, Nevada. In addition to the 6253D, he also oversees the plans and training of the 347th General Hospital in Oakland; the 352 General Hospital in Oakland; the 828 Station Hospital in Fresno; the 140th Medical Detachment in Oakland; the 147th Medical Detachment at the Presidio and the 107th Medical Detachment in Oakland. LTC Hagen is in charge of almost 2000 officers and enlisted men.

William Hagen is active in civic affairs and is a past president of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, member of the County Democratic Central Committee, Director of the United Bay Area Crusade and city chairman of the Marine Corps program to raise funds to purchase books, supplies and equipment for depressed South Vietnam schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagen and their five children reside in San Mateo.

Armed Men Force Diners To Floor

Four men, armed not only with sawed off shotguns, but revolvers as well, Saturday night forced diners and employes to lie on the floor while he robbed Bertolucci's restaurant in South San Francisco of an undetermined amount of cash.

Their facial features obscured by stocking masks, the four bandits burst into the noted restaurant at about 9 p.m., South San Francisco police said.

They ordered all 60 patrons and employes to lie down on the floor, then directed a bartender to fill a pillowcase with money from cash registers and a safe.

Police said the robbers made no attempt to obtain funds from diners. How much money was taken has not yet been determined, the authorities said.

Although police were in the area within minutes of the robbery, they said the four made their escape while the incident was being reported.

Teacher's Pay Docked For Court Visit

A teacher's plea for clarification of a district policy on teacher absences related to court a-p pearances will be placed on a future Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees agenda.

The teacher, Judith Bailey, active in the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, complained that her check was reduced by $41.06 for a day's absence from the classroom when she appeared as a witness in a JCTA-Jefferson Elementary District court encounter.

Five people were "docked," she said.

Supt. Frank Greenwood said James Foley of the District Attorney's office had ruled on the matter, but the board agreed to set up a date for discussion of the policy.

Fatal Crash In Pacifica

Frank Anthony Boscacci, 29, 269 Angelita, Pacifica, died Saturday in the collision of his motorcycle and a car on Monterey Drive, near Manor, in Pacifica.

A Pacifica police spokesman said Boscacci, a United Airlines employe, apparently cut a corner too short and smashed into an oncoming car driven by another United Airlines worker, William Eyrich, 11 Hibbert Court, Pacifica, shortly before 4:30 p.m.

Controller School Set At Skyline

Training air traffic controllers has always been a task reserved for the Federal Aviation Administration at Oklahoma City, but Skyline College in San Bruno is proving that is no longer so.

Starting this fall at the San Bruno campus, aeronautical instructor George Sachen will be guiding students through a two-year course leading to one of today's highest paid occupations.

The course of study has been developed by Skyline, in cooperation with the Federal Aviation Administration.

In addition to on-the-job training in FAA control towers, studies will include aeronautics, commercial pilot ground school, airport operation, flight simulation, aircraft operation on instruments, aviation weather, flight operations, and the national airspace system, as well as normal academic courses.

FAA sources indicate air traffic controllers may earn $9,320 per year, with in one year after being employed, and move to a top scale of approximately $15,000 per year in three years.

Skyline college's air traffic controller course will differ from the FAA's, in providing gradutes with an AA degree.

Sachen, the instructor, has been in aviation 31 years, is a "gold seal" flight and instrument instructor, with airline transport, multi-engine, flight engineer, and turbo jet ratings.

He is also rated as a ground instructor for advanced and instrument courses, and licensed as an airframe and powerplant mechanic.

Prospective applicants for the air traffic controller course may contact Donald D. Biederman, chairman of the physical science division at Skyline, for further information.

Bruno Bids Are Approved

Four separate bids have been approved by San Bruno councilmen; for roadwork, a street sweeper, a calculator and a police car.

McGuire and Hester's low bid of $813,196.20 was good for the contract on Sharp Park Road and College of San Mateo (Skyline College) North Entry Road.

The street sweeper low bid of $15,660.75 was submitted by Western Traction Company.

And the calculator, for the engineering department, will come from the Marchant company on a bid of $2,952.60. It was not the low bid, however. That came from the Monroe company. It was $2,772.60. Councilmen were convinced the Marchant calculator would better serve the engineering department needs.

The police car will be supplied by Turner Motors at a low bid of $2,515.13.

Three Youths Booked In Theft Charge

Daly City policeman John Morre arrested three juveniles for allegedly driving a stolen car last week, booked them into Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center and arranged to have the car returned — all before the owner event knew her auto had been stolen.

Police woke the victim — Patricia Ann Keane — at her Montrose Avenue home about 2 a.m. to tell her the suspected car thieves had been apprehended.

She said it was the first she had known about the car being stolen.

The suspects — two boys and a girl — were all 16 years old and from Daly City, police said.

Contract For D.C. Firm

In Sacramento, Two contracts for work on the administration building at the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge Toll Plaza have been awarded by the State General Services Department.

A $174,344 contract went to the Wilner Construction Co., Daly City, to provide a larger, improved cashiering facility, including installation of security equipment and construction of a new vault.

Old Tennis Courts Used For Parking

Railroad right-of-way and old tennis courts will be used for parking in semi-improved condition to coincide with the opening of the new swimming pool at South San Francisco's Orange Memorial Park.

Councilmen made this decision after reviewing with landscape architect David Mayes alternative landscape and parking plans that could cost as low as $65,435 and as high as $86,025.

The decision to "rough it" also was based on the fact Mayes informed councilmen the railroad right-of-way parking site could not possibly be prepared as he plans it by the September 30 deadline.

He told councilmen the right-of-way could, however, receive a rough grading and oiling down for temporary use, and that the old tennis court area could easily be transformed into a parking area.

According to Mayes' initial plan, which could run to $65,435 including a $1,585 architect's fee, there would be room for 33 cars in the tennis court area and 56 cars in the railroad right-of-way, now city property.

Under this proposal, it would cost $17,610 for work around the pool building east to Orange Avenue; $24,735 for work on the parking area of the railroad right-of-way west of Orange Avenue; $10,540 for reconstruction of Tennis Drive, adding to the surface and installing curbs and gutters; $5,750 for work on the north, south and west sides of the pool building; and $6,800 in architect's fees.

The higher cost would be reached if the councilmen would decide to eliminate parking on the tennis courts and turn this area into a grassy pathway area. It would add $9,400 to the $17,610 figure.

Another $9,605 would be added to the over-all cost should the city obtain and improve for parking additional railroad right-of-way now being negotiated for by the city attorney. For this additional work the architect's fee would be increased to $1,585, raising the over-all total to $86,025.

As with an earlier decision last night on traffic around the pool, councilmen decided to take a wait-and-see attitude on just how much parking will really be necessary.

Being a study session, councilmen could not make a firm decision anyway.

Parents in the community are requested to register their children then, classes may begin with all students present and teachers and staff can plan properly for the months ahead.

2,170 people made this advertisement possible.
37,831 other people had better believe it.

SURVIVAL IS THE ISSUE.

2170 local men and women from all walks of life are contributing to the citizens campaign for approval of San Mateo Junior College District's financing proposals at the September 15 special election. The number grows, day by day.

All of these people know what is at stake: the survival of our public junior colleges — Cañada College, College of San Mateo and Skyline College — as effective educational institutions.

And they know why: It will be impossible to run these three colleges satisfactorily in the 1970s on a tax base established as adequate for just one college in the depression era of the 1930s. Likewise, it will be impossible to absorb rapidly rising enrollments in classroom space that already is overcrowded.

SAVINGS ARE YOUR REWARD.

To assure approval of the junior college proposals, with an average turnout at the polls, 37,831 other men and women in San Mateo County also must vote "yes" on election day.

You should be one of them.

You won't be voting only for the sake of the colleges and their thousands of students.

You will be voting for your own sake. Because keeping our local junior colleges on the job saves everybody money.— far more than the two proposals will cost (a total of less than $1 a month for the average taxpayer). Parents can save thousands of dollars on the college education of their sons and daughters. Millions more in tax dollars can be saved, since it costs taxpayers much less to educate students at a junior college than at a state college or the University of California.

VOTE "YES"

HOME COOKING — The food at the Villa Coffee House is now at its best, and credit goes to Chef Karl Faigle, whose recipes for the menu selections are attracting more and more diners to the Villa Hotel. Whether you choose a complete dinner, a la carte, or one of the Daily Specials, there is something appealing to every appetite. "Home cooking is one of Karl's distinguishing talents," said Boss Jerry Greenbach Wednesday afternoon as your Bright Lighter devoured one of Chef Faigle's specialties — and I concur.

Vocalist Muribus Joins The Larry Polson Trio

Clay Wolfe presented a lovely entertainment addition to the Lost Knight Lounge last week, as vocalist Gail Muribus joins the Larry Polson Trio Tuesday through Saturday. New to the Airport area, Miss Muribus comes direct from a 10-month engagement at the Hawaiian Village in Honolulu. Rejoining the trio will be regulars Bill Hendrick and Jack Coker, who have returned from vacation and military obligations. The group provides music in all styles — drawing from jazz, Latin, rock swing and society categories. By all means join the Happy Hour crowd (4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.) when drinks are only 50 cents and hors d'oeuvres are served as snack satisfiers. Watch Bright Lights column for news of the up-coming first anniversary party of the Lost Knight Lounge, located minutes north of the San Francisco Airport in the Royal Inn Hotel, South San Francisco . . . The Whistle Stop's new steak dinner policy is a wire-to-wire winner and well worth a stop-off dining visit. This Belmont "home of the famous recipe fried chicken" will be open on Admission Day. Phone ahead for the honey-dipped chicken and your order will be ready . . . The entertaining art of "catch" singing has been revived at The Ben Jonson, an Elizabethan restaurant at the Cannery, San Francisco, where the Wry Catchers hold forth Tuesday through Saturday nights.

Al Williams, cordial host of the Papagayo Room in Pacifica, is amazed at the number of surfers who populate picturesque Rockaway Beach in the daytime. Their surfing skills supply plenty of entertainment for Papagayo Room guests, who have a panoramic view from picture windows . . . Bacchus, the god of wine, reigns over the diners at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. He reigns from the cozy cocktail lounge, which should be your first stop in an enjoyable dining experience in friendly surroundings. You might try the Deep-fried Scampi from Pakistan as an appetizer . . . Mrs. Gros of Menlo Park and Peninsula social circles held a dinner party at the Lord Fletcher Inn, Atherton. This English style restaurant and pub is making big strides foreward in the banquet circle . . . Movie personalities Virginia Fields and Willard Parker were recent visitors to the Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf, and asked that Waiter Turp serve them. When Turp asked how they had heard about him, they said he had been recommended by friends who had enjoyed his sense of humor and fine service . . . United Air Lines execs., dining like kings on Peach Wellington, Claudia, in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco, pronounced the gourmet steak delicacy: "The greatest 'invention' since the peach!" Lehr created the dish in honor of Dean Martin's beautiful daughter, Claudia.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Sinaloa Featuring One Of Its Top Productions

A new dancer, Carla, has been added to the colorful line-up at Bill Vroman's Sinaloa cantina in North Beach. The Sinaloa is currently offering one of its greatest shows: Raul Lara, Raquel Flores, Maria Dolores and Arturo Lira. And, of course, the superb Aztec Fire Dance of Florenzio Ycasa and Felicia Cervantes . . . Bean soup is just one of the many mealtime enticers at the New Southern restaurant in South San Francisco. There is no skimping on this soup, which is prepared in the old Southern way. Nothing but the best southern food, this side of Dixie . . . Stu Stoneback, quitarist-singer who entertains in the Lancer Lounge, along with pert Carmen Ortiz, at Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn, was singing a Burt Bacharach song when suddenly his friends threw a birthday party for him right on the lounge stage. The patrons were surprised, but Stu was in shock. He said, "I'm 27 and this is the wildest birthday I've ever celebrated." His wish was to make a record and fall in love . . . Ambassador Tours president, Stanley Pollard, having returned from conducting a tour of 120 persons through the Hawaiian Islands, was welcomed home with a surprise dinner at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo.

Funnyman Bobby Wick, the rubber-faced master of mirth, and harmonica virtuoso Stan Fisher share the spotlight at the San Francisco Playboy Club, through September 12. Backing the show is the Al Plank Trio . . . You're sure to meet a friendly bunch of guys and gals from the financial district in the Iron Horse restaurant on Maiden Lane. Hot and cold hors d'oeuvres are served nightly in the intimate cocktail lounge, and the delicious meals will delight even the most discriminating diner. Open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m., serving both luncheon and dinner . . . One of the major appeals of the Coastside is Highway One, which winds and twists through some of the most beautiful, and rugged country of California. Located on a stretch of that road just south of Devil's Slide is Frank Torres Beach Restaurant in Montara. Torres, owned and operated by Frank and Fannie Torres, overlooks a picturesque section of beach and surf . . . Shapely belly dancers undulate nightly to the music of the Trio Orfeo at the Greek Taverna in North Beach. By the way, the Greek Taverna is a favorite spot for one of the Bay Area's most popular radio disc jockeys. You try to figure out which one. . . .

It seems only natural that Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin are hosting the testimonial to Joe E. Lewis held at the Riviera, Las Vegas, Sunday, September 13. Sinatra portrayed Lewis in a biofilm entitled "The Joker is Wild." Dino is the first to admit that he borrowed Joe's "happy alcoholic" image as a nightclub entertainer. Celebrities like Jimmy Durante, Georgie Jessel, George Burns, Phil Silvers and Jan Murray have accepted Sinatra and Martin's invitation to occupy places of honor onstage. Each will rise to pay tribute either in song or speech to the guest of honor . . . "Butcher, Baker, Money-Maker" is Hospitality Magazine's headline on their story on Adrian Stickney, owner of Stickney's and the Shirt Tail restaurants on the Peninsula. The article describes his rise from a butcher's helper in Alameda to owner of restaurants and cocktail lounges in San Mateo, Redwood City, Palo Alto and San Jose. The first, in Redwood City, opened in 1950. His own baking of pies, cakes and pastries accounted for much of his initial success. "Red" Stickney's restaurants cater to families and have special children's menus of sea animals and circus characters. His latest venture was the comfortable and relaxing Shirt Tail in Palo Alto, named after an old California Gold Mine. The restaurant magazine will soon enter Stickney into the "Hall of Fame" of the industry.

Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's exclusive Marina district is one of the very few restaurants where you will never hear: "Sorry, this is not my table." At Lehr's, the entire staff assists your waitress to be sure the service is exceptionally excellent . . . Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach in Pacifica, spends many hours per day in his kitchen, preparing those special sauces of his, and maintaining a vigil over his business that never falters . . . Park Avenue Tours offers a vacation treat for fun seekers driving to Lake Tahoe, South Shore — receive a total refund value of $10 per person. Overnighters are also available with an excellent bonus refund. Most recent additions to the many packages are Reno and Las Vegas trips. No matter when you plan a trip, Park Avenue Tours is here to assist you. Charters anywhere, anytime, any place. Barney's Casino and the South Tahoe Nugget are the South Shore refund headquarters . . . Antonio's rendition of "Impossible Dream" sung in Spanish is a treat in the current revue at Finocchio's, San Francisco. One of Antonio's big breaks came when just a youngster in Cuba. He caught the eye of Spencer Tracy, when the cast was being picked for the movie "Old Man and the Sea," based on the novel by Hemingway. He's come a long way since that day.

Make reservations now to enjoy a celebration at Oreste's restaurant in San Francisco. There are many well-appointed banquet rooms available for entertaining any size group. Dine among the well known people of the Bay Area who visit Oreste's often for an afternoon or evening of fine food. Owner Joe Piccinini, one of the best known San Francisco maitre d's, is also a master chef, and will help you plan your party menu . . . Being a science teacher must be an added help to Sal Campagna of the House of Troy in San Carlos. His careful preparation of cocktails requested by his patrons shows his understanding of the chemistry of beverages. As for steaks and such, Sal's chef expresses culinary imagination in all he prepares. The Filet Mignon dinner for two ($8.95), which includes relish dish, soup, salad, Demi-loaf bread, baked potato, coffee and dessert, is just one example of his cookery powers . . . Chef John at Bruno's in San Francisco's Mission would fracture them in Hollywood. Counter customers revel in watching John go through his act amid flame, flip-overs, towel swipes, hot plates, et al. If John ever moonlights, planes leave for the Hollywood sets on the hour.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

Warranties have long been the subject of discussion between Better Business Bureaus and consumers. We are happy to learn that the Senate has passed and sent on to the House stiff federal standards to insure clarity and fairness in warranties, covering automobiles, appliances and other consumer goods.

The bill, as it stands now, does not require a manufacturer or seller to guarantee his products but establishes mandatory guidelines, enforced by the FTC, for those who choose to do so.

The proposed bill covers consumer products costing more than $5 and which carry warranties claiming the supplier will fix a defect. Under the new rules, the supplier would be required to state in writing whether his warranty is "full" or partial." A "full" warranty would obligate the manufacturer or other supplier to repair or replace a malfunctioning or defective product or part without charge and within a "reasonable" time. A warranty that failed to incorporate such standards would have to be labeled as "partial."

As an example of a required description, a manufacturer could specify he is giving a full warranty for 90 days to repair defects, and a partial warranty covering replacement parts for two years.

Some manufacturers issue warranties that promise certain repairs but in finer print, waive any obligation under the implied warranty (the assumed obligation of a supplier to stand behind his product's "fitness or ordinary use").

According to the U.S. Senate Commerce Committee, this could limit a buyer's rights. For example, if a new car can be covered by the maker's warranty to repair a defective transmission but is not eligible because of the implied-warranty waiver to have a prematurely fading paint job corrected.

The bill would forbid a supplier from disclaiming, in the committee's words, "implied warranties of merchantability and fitness, which normally run with the sale of every product."

It would allow a dissatisfied buyer to sue a supplier in court if he thinks the warranty rules have been broken, and, if he wins, he would be awarded reasonable attorney's fees.

Brush Fire Is Contained

Firemen from the State Division of Forestry worked 20 minutes before dawn Tuesday to confine a brush and timber fire the property of the Wickett Hill of Star Hill Road a mile west of Skyline Boulevard.

Although the first reports came in that an old mill on the property was on fire, firemen reported the mill was not endangered. They reported a large number of long hair hippie types were on the scene of the fire, and an investigation would be made into its cause today.

15 Teachers Get Extra Pay

Fifteen teachers in the South San Francisco Unified School District will be identified as "Master Teachers" and be eligible for $4,000 annual extra income.

A telegram to the district from Assemblyman Leo Ryan said the South San Francisco district is the only unified school district in Northern California eligible to participate in the pilot "Master Teacher Program."

NELL NORTON
Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Vacation was fun wasn't it? But it's good to be back home and getting settled into a regular routine again. Of course, the post-vacation washing and ironing and the pre-school shopping and sewing is no one's idea of fun and games. But now that those hurdles are past, it's time to relax. So how about having a second cup of coffee and talking about recipes?

Since school is starting this week, one kind of food that would be good to consider is some cookies for lunches. This first recipe won a prize in the bake-off and when you bake them you'll agree that they deserve a prize. They combine two popular ingredients — rolled oats and chocolate chips — for a family favorite.

OATMEAL CHIP COOKIES

2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup margarine, softened
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Heat oven to 375 degrees.

In large mixer bowl, combine the two cups flour, one teaspoon each salt and soda, one cup each white and brown sugar, half cup each margarine and shortening and the two eggs. Blend well at low speed. Stir in the two cups rolled oats, one cup chopped nuts and six ounces chocolate pieces. Mix thoroughly.

If desired, chill dough for easier handling. Shape into balls, using a rounded teaspoon for each. Place on ungreased cookie sheets, bake 375-degrees 10 to 12 minutes. Cool. About 96 cookies.

☆ ☆ ☆

NOW THAT WE'VE DECIDED about the dessert for lunches, how about a recipe for an inexpensive and tasty dinner dish? Stuffed Cabbage Rools. This recipe serves 6 and is attractive as well as good to eat.

STUFFED CABBAGE ROLLS

First soften cabbage as follows:

Cut core out of cabbage (about 2½ pound head); let cold water run into opening to loosen leaves. Remove 12 outside leaves, keeping them whole. Stand leaves in large kettle. Pour boiling water over leaves, cover kettle and let stand 10 minutes to soften leaves for easy handling. Remove leaves and drain. Set aside and prepare the filling.

FILLING

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs crumbs
2-thirds cup evaporated milk
2-thirds cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 can tomatoes (1-lb., 12 ounces)

Mix together the pound ground beef, fourth cup crumbs, two-thirds cup onion, one teaspoon salt, pepper and two-thirds cup evaporated milk, in a medium mixing bowl.

Divide the meat mixture into 12 portions. Place a portion of meat mixture on the stem end of each cabbage leaf and roll, folding sides to keep filling in place.

Melt the tablespoon butter in large skillet, tilting so butter completely coats bottom. Place cabbage rolls, fold side down in skillet, cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Then turn rolls.

Spoon the canned tomatoes over the rolls. Cover and continue cooking 5 minutes longer.

(If desired, rolls may be removed to platter and kept hot and tomato mixture thickened with flour before being spooned over rolls for serving.) Serves 6.

☆ ☆ ☆

NOW WHAT ARE YOU GOING to do with the rest of the head of cabbage? Since it's been washed, place in a plastic bag and return to the refrigerator for another day. And on that 'nother day, you can make this molded salad with it.

CABBAGE SOUFFLE SALAD

1 family size package lemon gelatin
2 cups hot water
1¾ cup cold water
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup mayonniase
4 cups finely shredded cabbage

Combine the gelatin with the two cups hot water. Stir until completely dissolved and then add the one and three-fourths cups cold water. Mix well and place in refrigerator to chill until syrupy.

Remove from refrigerator, add the half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon vinegar and cup mayonnaise. Stir well. Beat with electric mixer until fluffy. Fold in cabbage and return to refrigerator and chill.

This makes a large salad which serves 10 or more.

IN THE RESPONSE to many calls here is the final part of the Applesauce Cake Recipe featured August 19!

When you have finished mixing the cake as directed in The Post pour the batter into greased tube pan. Sprinkle nut-sugar topping over batter. Bake in 350 degree oven 1 hr. and 20 to 25 minutes.

Bomb Threats At S.M. Courthouses

Court buildings in Redwood City, South San Francisco and Daly City were evacuated Wednesday afternoon following a telephone report to Redwood City police that "there is a bomb in the court house."

Switchboard operator Mrs. Beverly Williams received the call at 3:32 p.m. and police, firemen and sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the old court house building.

There was some confusion for awhile as to which agency, the police department or the sheriff's office, was in charge of the situation.

The sheriff's office ordered evacuation of the building, which contains the three southern district Municipal courts as well as several county offices. Police, firemen and deputies began a search of the structure, but could find no bomb, Policeman Gary Rolle reported.

Northern Municipal Court Clerk Richard Liberty, who learned of the telephoned threat, ordered evacuation of the Municipal and Superior Court buildings in South San Francisco as a precautionary measure, it was reported.

Redwood City Deputy Fire Chief Emile R. Biagi reported that when he arrived at the court house there appeared to be no centralized command or coordination in the search and evacuation.

FLASHY FLASH — You heard it first right here: Don't be surprised if Daly City businessman Tony Masini, former D.C. planning commissioner, is named to the Cow Palace board of directors. The governor is looking for a person with an agricultural background who knows what's going on around the North County, and Masini seems to be the ideal choice. Nothing official yet.

Masini and councilman McRobert Stewart were on the planning commission back when Stewart decided to run against Tony Giamonna and Frank Pacelli three years ago. Masini headed the unsuccessful campaign and both men were bumped from the commission following the vote count. Pacelli and Giamonna were reelected.

THERE'S TALK AROUND TOWN that some folks are planning a testimonial for a Daly City feller that has devoted much of his time and money to helping others less fortunate than himself. He's spent much of his adult life doing such diverse things as painting houses for the poor and getting "Operation Santa Claus" off the ground more than a decade ago. There's a lot of happy kids around town because of the latter.

We couldn't hope to list here the many things he's done for folks. And so it was good to hear of the proposed testimonial for D.C. insurance man civic leader and long-time Chamber of Commerce Manager Peter J. Markovich. Let's hope it happens.

WHAT'S IN A NAME — Frank Messenger is an official of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. He recently gave a talk to the D.C. Host Lions Club on communications now and in the future. Messenger on messages?

THERE ARE THREE political parties in San Bruno if you can believe councilman Dick Griffith's latest memo—Republicans, Democrats and "obstructionists." The latter label was tacked onto fellow councilmen George Corey and Maury Hamilton. And the heat goes on, and on, and on . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

AND SPEAKING OF GRIFFITH — The councilman claims fame in being the only union affiliated member of the council. In a pre-Labor Day message to city employees Griffith extended best wishes to the employees and reminded them they, too, were taxpayers. That's news?

ATTENTION HIGHWAY PATROL — How long will it take to clear that junked car off the side of Skyline Boulevard a short distance south of Alamany Avenue? It's not only messy, but dangerous . . . And when will Daly City's elite Traffic Committee make the north side of south Mayfair a "no parking" zone before westbound cars cream someone parked there?

ONE MORE THING on Benny Bufano before I put away the scrapbook. That beautiful and huge hand with the children of the world in its palm outside the U.N. building in New York is some of Benny's work. The story goes that one day while he was putting the finishing touches on it in his San Francisco studio he got trapped inside the index finger. A friend heard his muffled cries and called the Fire Department who rescued the little guy from his own creation.

THERE WILL BE A LOT OF golfing widows around town in the next few days. D.C. businessman Dino Donati will be holding forth with another of his annual golf tournaments in Reno September 13-15. Burglars desiring a free list of those persons participating in the out-of-town affair may inquire this column.

NO, BUT SERIOUS — A stipulation attached to granting a business license to that automatic car wash on Hillside and East Market streets four years ago said the place would be appropriately landscaped. If you call a bunch of withered weeds "appropriate" then it's landscaped. People in the area, however think landscaping means flowers and trees. Funny. So do we!

REMEMBER WE TOLD YOU — D.C. could expect an increase in garbage rates pretty soon? Well, the City Council talked about it last night and it looks like it's coming — soon. Tell you more later.

'Yes' Vote Urged

At a time when public resistance to taxation is stronger than it has been in a quarter of a century, the Trustees of the San Mateo Junior College District have faced up with courageous desperation to the unavoidable necessity of asking the voters for both a permissive tax increase and an additional bond issue.

In doing this they are placing the future fate of the district's three colleges squarely in the hands of the electors. The decision of whether the colleges will be able to maintain their present excellence, and whether they will be able to expand to meet coming needs, must be made at the voting machines at the special election on September 15.

As simply as possible, the permissive tax increase proposition is vitally necessary because the district basic tax rate of 35 cents per hundred dollars assessed valuation, supplemented by a 12 cent override soon due to expire, cannot possibly provide sufficient funds to continue operation of the colleges at present quality or enrollment levels. The ballot proposal, therefore, covers a continuation of the override, plus a 14 cent addition to the basic rate. This would bring the total rate to 61 cents, if the board exercised its tax authority to the full limit. The purpose of the added 14 cents is to cover inflationary and added operational expenses which are now far beyond the economies that have been previously exercised to meet them.

The bond issue proposition, which would authorize $2.7 million in bonded indebtedness, is necessary to qualify for state and federal financing of $2.3 millions. The total would be spent for additional classroom construction at the Skyline and Canada Colleges, with the space being doubled at the latter. In sum, nothing more is proposed than has long been planned for the integral structure of the colleges.

It should be observed that the trustees of the college district are well aware that many of the voters believe that the limit of tax tolerance has been reached and they are not happy about having to ask for more money. But they feel they have no choice other than the submission of these tax proposals. The only alternative, they know, is a crippling curtailment of operational expense, the dismissal of needed staff and faculty, and an extremely severe cutback in new and future enrollment.

In making his own decision on these measures, each voter should feel the weight of the crisis faced by the Trustees. He should ask himself, in all conscience, if he honestly believes that damage to the colleges, and to the educational hopes of youthful and adult students, is justified in the name of saving a few tax dollars.

The Post believes that the interests of the colleges, the students, and the continuation of this county's hard-won reputation for educational excellence, should be the ruling factor in making the decision on how to vote. The Times urges a "Yes" vote on both tax propositions.

Waste Of Taxpayers' Dollars Is Issue

Editor, The Post:

The Women's Committee of Citizens for Responsible Government are wondering why an important expenditure of taxpayers money like $100,000 has been put in the light of appearing to be a head-on fight between Westborough and Buri Buri, thereby straying from the facts.

Most of us are mothers, some are mothers and grandmothers and a few have no children. We do not play this up, however, because women are noted to be (rightfully so) emotional and this tends to stray from the fact that we are dealing with a political boondoggle and not emotionalism.

Waste of taxpayers' dollars is the true issue we have been involved in with since the onset of this boondoggle.

Naturally, as human beings, we are concerned with safety for pedestrians and drivers alike. Matter of fact, we have never said we are against overpasses or public safety in any way, shape or form. On the contrary, we only ask that our elected officials use good sense and judgment when they spend our well-earned money on projects against experts' advice.

We are not anymore expert, as mothers, grandmothers, etc., on traffic safety than we are on air pollution, water pollution, jet noise and waste, garbage disposal, or whatever. We leave that to the experts who have trained and studied for their well-earned status as qualified experts.

Why Do Americans Give To UNICEF?

Editor, The Post:

Postmaster General Blount is allowing, once again, UNICEF to sell its cards at Christmas time in the post offices of our country.

I have several questions: Why do the American people give money to this organization which in turn provides communist governments with money and supplies to keep the hungry children they are trying to help, enslaved and still hungry?

Why do the American people give when this organization was willing to allocate $200,000 to North Vietnam? Do you believe the government of No. Vietnam would use it to feed its hungry?

If by giving to this organization the providers feel less guilty because they are fortunate to have so much, the benefactors of your gift pay a big price so you can appease your conscience.

'Much Needed To Improve Culture'

Editor, The Post:

Referring to Frank La Pierre's column in today's Post (August 19) I agree with Mrs. Paul Warner that much is needed to improve Daly City's Culture.

We have no real parks nearby except for the lovely school grounds and fields.

The bus service is torturous, and the library limited to those who drive or wish to struggle through the miserable bus service.

This is the first time in my lifetime I was not within walking distance of a library, so I seldom get to use its facilities during my years here. I buy my books for reference and reading; also the children's, because it is easier and less costly than the bus fare and its wear and tear in the long run.

I love Daly City, but it has more inconviences than a city of our growth should have.

By the time the situation improves, my children will be grown and it will matter little to me. Besides, I also will be too old to care, then.

MARGARET RICHARDSON,
Daly City.

'Real Enough' Hope

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks) have been underway for some time now. While the world is not waiting with bated breath, there is hope of progress. Considered practically, the hope is real enough though it does not promise a world free from the danger of atomic warfare.

The hope is based upon growing obsolescence of parts of the atomic arsenals of both Russia and the United States. For both nations have created stockpiles of obsolete and unneeded atomic weapons. The technology of fission and fusion has changed so rapidly in 25 years that quantum advances have been made, but old systems and weapons have not been eliminated.

This should not be surprising, for in government generally it is true that old programs never die — they don't even fade away — they live on and on. Considering our American example, the rule is that programs long outlast usefulness, and such is undoubtedly the case with some items in our atomic arsenal.

It is our good fortune that the Russians have the same problem. They have doubtless collected antiques systems that are a burden upon their economy and an unnecessary danger to world peace. It is reasonable to conclude that these can be disposed of on a bilateral basis, where they never could be if one nation chose to do so alone.

The difficulties with cooperative arms ventures are the same old ones. Both Russia and the United States fear giving away of some essential, and Russia continues to refuse open inspection. Thus, the limitation talks have a serious limitation: neither nation will give away any really important component of existing plans and systems. This means that it is unlikely that there will be a limitation on multiple reentry vehicles (MIRV), and it also means that the newest generation of missiles and bombs will be retained.

But as time goes on, and stockpiles become junk piles, both nations have more and more to give away. Obsolescence is creating fertile areas for agreement. With more than a thousand ICBM's each, the total number of vehicles has passed the point of saturation and land based ICBMs are now growing old by the atomic timeclock.

There has always been something scary about this nation relying on stationary offensive weapons such as the Minuteman. One envisions a legion of identical rockets, housed in identical holes and triggered by identical electrical or electronic systems. It does not seem too Strangelovian to imagine an opponent successfully discovering how to stop one, and thus being able to immobilize them all.

In addition, such immobile vehicles are obvious objects for a first strike offensive. A preemptive attack could instantly wipe out all of them in place.

We may well find that one rosy day, the world's press is festooned with the great news that in-place ICBM's have been abolished or that the total number of vehicles has been limited. In this way, each nation can cast aside something that has proven a difficult item to maintain, and the balance of terror will be reduced. In the meantime death will continue to crawl under the sea and poseidon, MIRV, and other newer systems and vehicles will flourish essentially untouched by this round of talks. If such a result appears to be small progress, we should remember that a start must be made, that habits of negotiation, limitation and trust can only be acquired by gradual stages.

Time To Relax

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

THIS IS THE TIME to relax. To curl up on a comfortable sofa or in a large arm chair and lose your troubles and cares in a good novel. Let me recommend four that will lead you to more pleasure than your favorite T.V. program.

"Huelga" by David Chandler (no relative Publisher's Weekly calls it a highly readable novel enfolding many elements of the scene in Southern California: liberal college kids working for a cause; reactionaries unable to change; traditional union organizers and party types. In addition there's solid love interest and salty close-to-the-earth dialog in English and Spanish.

The principal characters are Daniel Garcia, organizer of a union of the workers in the grape vineyards, and Enrique Montoya, a young Chicano who tries to make it-big as a Hollywood singer.

As the story progresses Montoya whose singing name is "the Cuban" gets framed on a drug charge, and, as an ex-con is swept into Garcia's Mexican-American movement. Garcia is assassinated and the book closes with Montoya poised ot carry on in his place.

HUELGA MEANS STRIKE and Huelga is being called an excellent novel.

Also among the things that are new is Hijacked by David Harper. This novel is a thriller about an airplane hijacking that ends, not in Cuba, but thousands of miles farther east.

The interest in the book lies in the reactions of the people involved and the problems they face. "Basically, however, this is not a who-is-doing-it," writes Publishers Weekly, "but a how will-they-get-out-of-it adventure-suspense yarn."

The Possession of Joel DeLaney by Ramona Stewart is being called the best price of civilized Satanism since Rosemary's Baby, and like that story it is played out against an authentic New York City background.

It is being hailed by critics as a "real thriller, and a solidly satisfying piece of entertainment." The story deals with a likeable thirtyish divorcee with two children and a big bumbling dog who are called to the aid of the woman's younger brother. It seems a simple if ugly case of drug involvement until the author has lured the reader into the horrors of big city life and crime into the chilling possibilities of ritual murder and the possession of one living human being by the spirit of another who is dead.

ONE CRITIC WRITES, "The real punch comes when the author begins to convince you that it could happen."

For a change of pace among the new novels is Royal Flash, a sequel to George MacDonald's "The Flashman Papers." The scene is Victorian England and a Graustarkian duchy.

Flashman is a rogue and scoundrel, liar, lover, coward to the core who is whirled into a wild series of adventures involving such people as Lola Montez and Otto von Bismark.

One critic writes of the Royal Flash, "This succeeds marvelously well as satire rousing adventure, thoroughly researched period fiction."

A Town That Shows Its Gratitude To Sr. Citizens

The plan has made municipal officials elsewhere both envious and angry, but the mayor of a small Texas community has found a way to show the town's gratitude to its senior citizens: token payment of $1 a year in property taxes for all home owners 65 years of age and older (62 in the case of women).

The town of Mansfield has a population of 3,700 and Mayor Tommy Watson says he doesn't advocate his plan for all communities.

"I don't say that what we did here is right for every city," he said. "But I would recommend it for any city of our size. It's just a matter of paying back the people who have paid taxes for so long."

The townspeople are backing the mayor on his unique experiment. A city sales tax was adopted at the polls by the citizens to compensate for the lost revenue.

Before oldsters elsewhere decide to pack up and head for Mansfield, they ought to note the one requirement for the $1 tax: 10 years' residency in Mansfield.

'SERVICE IS . . . Putting Love To Work'

Mary's Help Hosital's Vounteens put in 4,600 hours of service at the Daly City medical facility last year, and pins recently were awarded to 33 volunteens for 100 to 500 hours of service.

The Volunteen program began in 1966 for boys and girls 16 years of age and older from Daly City, Colma, Pacifica, South San Francisco, San Francisco, and San Bruno.

Last year, 4,600 hours were contributed by these active teens who work up to six hours a day during the Summer months and after school and on weekends during the rest of the year.

Volunteens serve throughout the hospital, from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., as escorts in admitting, serving food trays to patients, in clerical offices, assisting in X-ray and therapy departments, and doing the many small "extras" on the patient floors.

One of the latest services of these young people is a "strolling serenade" through the patient floors by two girls who play their guitars and sing for the patients' pleasure.

Mrs. Mary McCoy, director of Volunteers and Volunteens, the Sisters and hospital personnel, all agree that the smiling faces of young Volunteens bring much happiness to the daily hospital routine.

Through their contributions to the patients and the hospital departments, Volunteens learn that "Service is Putting Love to Work" is more than a motto — it is a reality.

Teachers Of SSF School Feed The Hungry Students

What has been termed "inadequate" breakfasts at home has prompted a pilot program of serving breakfast to children at Spruce School in South San Francisco this year.

According to a district press release, "Two to three dozen children come to school without having an adequate breakfast. During the morning, these children complain of stomach aches and pains.

"Several of the teachers keep crackers, provided at their own expense, in their rooms to give these children something to eat to alleviate their discomfort," said the release.

It also was pointed out that 49 families (children) attending Spruce School are on the Aid to Needy Children Program. The Spruce School had 32 children receiving free lunches this year. These children also will be given free breakfasts by the district during the first semester pilot period.

In addition to the needy children, the district release pointed out that "some other students have working parents whose hours are such that they are not home when the children leave for school, and breakfast in certain of these homes is a haphazard affair at best.

"Some others of the children are not in the habit of eating breakfast at home," said the release, "or (they) buy candy and sweets on the way to school to substitute for breakfast."

The program will begin the second week of school. Funds have been allocated in the current budget. Breakfast will be served in the cafeteria from 8:10 to 8:30 a.m. with a cafeterial worker dispensing the food and a teacher supervising the cafeteria.

Breakfast may be purchased a week at a time by those wishing to eat breakfast and are not on the Aid to Needy Children program.

According to the district release, this is payable in the cafeteria on Friday in order that food and supplies may be ordered in advance. A charge of 25 cents per meal has been established.

A typical breakfast will consist of fruit juice, hot or cold cereal (or a roll with butter) and milk.

The costs, and change in student interest in school, will be evaluated by the district with a report to the board of trustees at the end of the fall semester.

'Teams That Stay Together Win Together'

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

There's got to be a moral here,
It's been on our mind for days,
But no matter where the answer lies,
The results prove that it pays

It's tough enough in this day and age
To get nine boys to form a team,
But it's even tougher to keep them —
You coaches know what we mean

From Little League to high school ball,
Picture that if you will,
And almost to a man,
Playing together, still

Their record is outstanding,
They've won much more than they've lost;
They are proud of their accomplishments,
The results were worth the cost

Perhaps the pros can think of this,
If it's wise to make trades or whether,
To keep the group they have intact,
'Cause teams that stay together win together

SOME DAY PACIFICA is going to win the World Series. Aided by Terra Nova High School.

Two years ago, the Tiger baseball team annexed the North Coast Section diamond title. Last season virtually the same team won its second straight North Peninsula League title but was knocked off early in the North Coast Section play-offs. Even so, they had previously lost only one game all year.

Now, a Pacifica summer team, Lou's 66, has taken the Joe Dimaggio League state title. And guess what? Seven of the nine players in the starting lineup of the championship game were Tigers, six of them from TN's last powerful club. The seventh, graduate Bill Downing, only won the tournaments Most Valuable Player trophy.

Lou's swept through its own league undefeated in 10 games, took the Regionals in Stockton in four, and then won four out of five in the finals at Palo Alto, which incuded come from behind victories against Hollywood and Long Beach; a revenge beating of defending champ Menlo Park (the team that knocked them off in the Regionals last year), and a comeback finale against San Francisco in the last half of a doubleheader, the first half of which was a humiliating 13-1 defeat to the team from the big city.

Manager Carl Vallero and sponsor Lou Nannini had been waiting four years for the Big Apple, or since the Dimaggio League came to Pacifica. As usual, Vallero did a great job of handling the team, and he also had a lot of cooperation from the players.

Downing, the classy MVP shortstop, hit .667 in the tournament. He was on base 16 times in the five games; got 11 hits, a new tournament record; five extra base hits, a new tournament record (two doubles, two triples, a homer); and drove in seven runs, a tournament record shared with catcher Mike Rawlings and a San Francisco player. Needless to say, he was on the tournament all-star team.

★ ★ ★

RAWLINGS HIT .563 and made the all-star team. Outfielder Mike Humphry, called the inspirational leader of the team, hit .461 and made the all-star team.

And one of the few ringers in the group, southpaw pitcher Jim Emery of Half Moon Bay — the guy who pitched the championship game — also made the all-stars.

Other Terra Nova players on the 66 squad were lefty hurler Bob McClure (the NPL's MVP last year), pitcher John Racanelli, outfielder Mike Calder (the NPL's leading hitter in '69), outfielder Al Saisi, infielder Tim Lutz, and first baseman Bud Papadakis. Another pitcher, John Burgess, was a member of that '69 North Coast Section championship team.

Last June, just after the conslusion of the NPL baseball race, we did a group interview with Rawlings, Calder, and Ernie Manley. They praised their high school coach Al Figone (now head man at San Francisco State) because he never let them think about losing. They praised Vallero and Johnny Hernandez as great teachers when they played for them as "little kids."

They talked about how they had come up virtually as a unit from the Little Leagues, and how Vallero and Hernandez had instilled in them a built-in winning attitude.

We'd say there has been a phenomenal carry-over from those early days.

MANY BASEBALL EXPERTS-historians contend that while there may be an over-all higher caliber of players nowadays because of better training at all levels of development, that the old-time stars were REALLY stars, head and shoulders (this isn't a shampoo commercial, ad department) above the rest of the players, overwhelming athletes who dominated play more than hardly any contemporary player might ever hope to dominate his peers.

But what we've never heard one of these baseball historians admit is that the REASON the greats like Ruth and Cobb and Johnson so dominated play in their era is the same reason experts explain why current stars can never hope to dominate the game. The competition just wasn't as good in the old days, which made outstanding players into immortals.

AND MAY WE PLUG here the most maligned yet innocent piece of baseball equipment in the history of the game . . . the baseball.

Every time an imbalance between offense and defense occurs, the baseball is blamed. It's a rabbit ball or a dead-lead ball, it's cut open, its seams are examined, its cover scrutinized, it's scientifically tested, it becomes the subject of think pieces in national magazines.

Yet, the baseball has basically probably changed least of all the equipment down through the game's history. Bats have changed, or at least the preference for styles of bats has changed; spikes have changed, uniforms have changed radically, gloves have changed drastically. Parks have changed, traveling has changed, schedules have changed, players have changed, playing times have changed, yea, entire philosophies have changed.

But still the baseball gets all the blame and receives the most punishment.

★ ★ ★

ANNOUNCERS KEEP making excuses for pitchers not being able to hit, like they get hardly any batting practice, etc. But there may be at least one better reason than any of them, aside from the obvious one that many young players become pitchers because they're lousy hitters. That reason is the very practical one that many pitchers, often under orders from the bench, give themselves up so as to stay off the bases and thereby stay fresher.

WHEN CINCINNATI moved into its new stadium, many fans and-or experts predicted a slow-down of their homerun production. We said in this column that if there was a slow-down it would be negligible because the Reds had guys in their lineup who rarely hit cheap homers, anyway. We also said that if anything, their batting average might improve with the extra-quick infield, which could improve run production because there would be more men on base when the homers came. We also said that they would keep winning.

We were partially right. Their homerun production hasn't slowed down, although their team batting average hasn't progressed markedly, nor has their run production. But where we were really wrong was in the prediction of their continuing to win big. Since becoming ensconced in their new quarters, they've played only about .500 ball. Also, perhaps not coincidentally, it's their pitching which has betrayed them. It could be that while everybody was worrying about what the new stadium would do to their hitting, they should have thought about what it might do to their pitching. After all, the inifeld is as much faster for their pitchers as for the enemy's pitchers.

LOCAL TAG END: Last week was a bad one for local football talent. Two South City boys, backs Greg Jones and Al Namanny, were released and waived by Minnesota and the 49ers, respectively. Mike Holmgren, former Lincoln High School (S.F.) quarterback, was released by St. Louis, and former San Francisco State defensive lineman Nick Kukalicka was released by the Cincinnati Bengals.

Ex-Cap Star Wants To Go Out A Winner

By RON REID

EUGENE, Ore. — In the publicity pecking order of college football players, Millbrae's Mark Andrews comes in somewhere behind a yardline marker — notoriety he hasn't got.

Andrews, Oregon's two-year letterman from Capuchino High School, plies his violent trade as an offensive guard, and his reputation is thus stymied by his work.

Not that he's bad, mind you, but because he usually winds up in that ruck of bodies the glamour backs romp over on their way to touchdowns.

In his thankless job, however, Andrews is exceedingly important to the Ducks' lofty ambitions this year and because of his skill, he has also found more than a modicum of satisfaction.

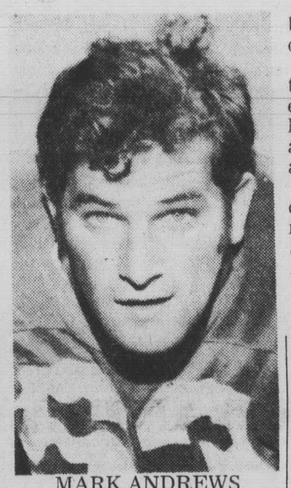
Just having the backs score shows that we do a good job," he said yesterday. "Good pass protection and a completion (which the Webfoots had in large supply last season), keeping the backs healthy, pulling and getting off a good block — it's all satisfying."

Nor is Andrews a stranger to head coach Jerry Frei, who says, "The only thing that would make him better is 30 more pounds in weight. He's a good college lineman, about as good as any 220-pound guard is going to be. He may have some trouble pushing a 250-pound guy out of his way, but he's usually excellent."

Andrews, an accounting major who plans to stay in the verdant surroundings of Eugene after graduation, is highly optimistic about Oregon's chances for the Rose Bowl, like every other player on Frei's squad.

"If we're going to do it," he said, "we'll have to do it this year. I know the coaching staff keeps on building, but as far as I'm concerned, I'd like it to be this year. I'd like to go out as a winner."

Andrews credits Dick Enright, the former Los Angeles Ram player now on the Ducks staff, with helping him improve this year.



MARK ANDREWS

"He helped me tremendously and our offensive line is about 18 times better than last year because of him."

Mark, who graduated from Cap in 1967 along with Stanford's Jim Kauffman, figures the Ducks' opener with Cal will be highly important to the cause of Pasadena.

"But I'm glad we're playing them," he said. "Now we play every team in the Pac-8 and I like to play California schools anyway. It's always fun to play against a team from home."

Andrews, inconspicuously of course, logged more than 200 minutes of playing time last season, and figures to increase it this year.

Noticed or not, he'd also like to add a game on January 1st to the Webfoot schedule.

THESE DALY CITY ATHLETES are playing an important role in College of San Mateo's football championship hopes for 1970. They are (kneeling) Bob Abbott, Dan Montelongo, and Mike Clabby — all Westmore grads. Standing are John Gradwohl (Jefferson), Geroge Castro (Jefferson), Tom Scott (Serra), and Walt Klevesahl (Westmoor). CMS opens its season with a non-league encounter at San Joaquin Delta College in Stockton the night of September 18 and starts Golden Gate Conference play at home Saturday afternoon October 3 against Diablo Valley College. Jones' Wait For That Phone Call

By GARRY NIVER

The young athlete sits pensively by the telephone in the South San Francisco home of his father-in-law awaiting a phone call which could reshape his destiny.

The sudden realization that you are unwanted after an illustrious career as a prep and collegiate football hero is not an easy feeling to accept.

Greg Jones came home to South San Francisco Sept. 1 after being handed his walking papers the previous day by Minnesota Viking coach Bud Grant.

But the confidence and optimism were still prevalent in his mature demeanor.

"I still believe that I am good enough to play pro football," Jones stated. "I wouldn't try to play if I didn't think so," he added.

Jones became a legend while a prep halfback at South City and added to his athletic stature by starring at UCLA all three years he was there.

A fifth-round pick by Minnesota, it was a foregone conclusion by his legion of fans that he would make the team and eventually become a star in pro football.

"Naturally, I am disappointed at being cut because this is the first time I have ever experienced anything like this," the highly competitive youngster related.

Jones felt that it was a combination of an injury and the Viking philosophy which led to his demise.

"In the opening game, the Hall of Fame game against Cleveland at Canton, Ohio, I played most of the game and was the leading ground gainer and leading pass reciver," he stated.

"However, I sustained a torn hamstring and a sprained instep which got me out of practice for nearly a week and one-half. Against the Houston Oilers I was suited up but didn't get in the game," he added.

"And then Sunday when we played the Jets, I didn't get into the game until the final minutes despite the fact that we had a big lead," the youngster pointed out.

"Grant's philosophy at Minnesota is to have the best personnel on the field at all times, even in the exhibition games; and this doesn't give a rookie too much of a chance," Jones noted.

Part of Greg's problem also was the fact that there were six veteran backs in camp. "The first four—Dale Osborne, Bill Brown, Oscar Reed and Clint Jones — are almost untouchable," Jones revealed.

JONES TO CHICAGO IN TRADE

The former UCLA halfback, who was placed on waivers by the Minnesota Vikings August 31 was recalled the next day Chicago Bears in a "conditional trade."

"Chicago called me this afternoon and told me they had acquired me through the trade," Jones said just before departing for the Bears' training camp.

"Although they have five good backs, including Gale Sayers and Ronnie Bull, I am optimistic over getting this second change," the Penninsulan added.

"I know that I have the ability, but it's tough getting that intial chance to prove yourself," Jones noted. "It's like some kind of a weird game," he quipped.

First Of Season

Bunker's Biggest Win

In the annals of 1970 baseball the 4-0 victory of the Kansas City Royals over the California Angels August 31 will be remembered only as a mild surprise. But to Wally Bunker, former Capuchino High School (San Bruno) student, it's the biggest win of the year.

As a matter of fact, the victory was the first of the year for Bunker who had been battling shoulder trouble the entire season and had an 0-8 record before he shut out the Angels on four hits.

WALLY BUNKER

Bunker, as a 19-year-old Baltimore rookie back in 1964 astounded the baseball world when he recorded a 19-5 season and he has never come close to that mark again.

"It's been a long year but I've been throwing well in my last four starts," said Bunker. "I thought Tuesday I wouldn't last through the first inning when I loaded the bases with nobody out."

But Alex Johnson grounded into a double play going to the plate and first base and Jim Spencer contributed the third out to save Bunker.

"I knew if I gave up one more hit with the bases loaded, I'd be out of the game, so I just threw hard and straight to Johnson," he said.

"It seems like the 0-8 pitchers and the 2-9 pitchers like Rich Hand of Cleveland hurt us more than the double figure winners," said Angel Mgr. Lefty Phillips.

Police Team Eyes Crown

Neal Morehouses' Club First Cabin's softball team is after its fourth straight title in the Burlingame Recreation Department League.

The Daly City-Colma team launched the fall-winter season Tuesday, with play to continue through the second week of November.

Daly City and Broadmoor police officers make up the team, with Daly City Sgt. Tom Reese, who boasts of a special "fuzz ball," holding a 16-4 pitching record in Burlingame league play.

23 Letterman To Return To CSM's Gridiron Squad

Twenty-three lettermen return in 1970 from the College of San Mateo Bulldog squad that was beaten out for the league title by Chabot (by one touchdown) in what proved to be the deciding league opener of an otherwise glorious 1969 season. Four of those vets received first or second team All-Golden Gate Conference honors on CSM's 6-1 (league) and 7-2 (overall) '69 team. And prognosticators are saying CSM will again chase Chabot to the title in 1970.

This year, the two cross bay rivals meet in the last CSM home game, October 31. The Bulldogs open their 1970 campaign at San Joaquin Delta in a September 18 non-league encounter and begin league play at home against Diablo Valley College October 3.

Returning Mateans include the league's leading rusher (Mike Chiurco), the top scorer in the GGC (Tom Scott), the quarterback who threw a 75 yard touchdown pass on his first try of the season (John Lucia), as well as the remaining member of last year's starting backfield — brusing fullback Jim Olmo.

Chiurco and Scott are both Serra grads who reside, respectively, in San Bruno and Daly City. Lucia is from El Camino High and Olmo from neighboring South San Francisco High.

Another veteran running back, Lory Bernardini, will have his younger brother Leo also competing for a backfield spot. Both received All-North Peninsula League honors at South San Francisco and Lory was third team All-Northern California.

Offensive interior linemen returning include All-GGC (2nd team) center Joe Holland (Carlmont), tackles Ed Schweitzer (-Oceana and (George Castr (Jefferson, and guards Mike Pherson (Serra) and Ernie Davis (San Mateo).

Of course the offense will be missing three of the top linemen in the league as Jim and Bob Teames as well as Edgar Malepsai have moved on to four-year schools — which prompted offensive coach Ted Tollner to predict that "if anything, we'll throw the ball more." It was the balance between the ground game and the air attack that made CSM especially rough last year and, of course, one of the big reasons for the Bulldogs' success on the groundwas that good blocking.

Dickey hopes to platoon a few frosh at these vacated positions — especially if the veterans have trouble. New prospects include Larry Cherverry (All MPL-MPL at Hillsdale), Phil Pollio (San Carlos), Delbert Tullos (All-MPL at Burlingame), Gerald Heuman (Half Moon Bay), Burnett Silveria (Half Moon Bay), and Potumoe Sotoa (South San Francisco.)

In the backfield the Bulldogs have frosh potential in tailbacks Dan Cozart (Sequoia) and Greg Pearl (Burlingame High and Foster City), fullback Marc Shea (Mills), and flanker Tom Karlo (Mills). Cozart was the SPAL scoring champion last year and Shea was All-MPL. Another talented ex-Mills athlete is All-MPL split end Dan Romeo.

Quarterback Wayne Willis has returned "home" after taking his frosh season at the University of Hawaii. The San Mateo High grad "could be super" according to Dickey and "can really throw the ball."

Vet Frank Anderson (El Camino) has the preliminary call at split end while '69 teammate Randy O'Brien (Carlmont) has the early edge at the tight end position. Both saw starting duty some of last season.

The loss of defensive tackles Mike Stewart and Chris Hunt, as well as guard Talai Kafusi and defensive back Mike Barr, will be hard to overcome. But defensive coaches Steve Shafer and newcombers Lou Porta and Jim Jacques are optimistic — especially because of three top transfers.

They are Willie Ergas from Cal State at Hayward, Steve Loveseth from Washington State (Serra and Millbrae), and big Ed Greene (El Camino)— who transferred back to CSM after three years in the military. Greene stands 6-5 and weighs 255, which makes him the only real "big man" on the squad. He was a defensive starter on CSM's 1966 team.

Ergas, who set NPL records for completion percentage and TD passes at South San Francisco, will concentrate on a defensive cornerback at CSM.

"We emphasize speed and quickness and we will have very good overall team speed," said Shafer. "We'll employ a 6-1 pro-type defense as we did last year." With this alignment the Bulldogs had one of the most ferocious pass rushes in the league.

Top defensive linemen back for another season are tackles Rudy Schnogl (Woodside High and Menlo Park) and Mike Clabby (Westmoor) plus guards Bob Cook (Bellarmine and Redwood City) and Steve Overhold (Oceana); also linebackers Dan Montelongo and Bob Abbott, both ex-Westmoor athletes.

Letterman defensive backs are Phil Andre and Neil Kuersten, both from South San Francisco, and John Levi, out of Crestmoor; also the Serra duo of Mickey McKeon of Belmont and Steve Ryan of South San Francisco. Kuersten was a second team All-GGC pick in '69.

A top frosh defensive prospect is two-way All-NPL tackle Walt Klevesahl from Westmoor, the NPL's lineman of the year and an all-county and all-West Bay selection.

Some other leading frosh prospects are linebacker Tom Davenport (All-SPAL at Woodside), Dan Meschi (All-MPL at Capuchino), and Bob Minklein (Mills) on the line; plus defensive backs Mike Rocchi (Serra and Redwood City) and Kerry Smith (Sequoia) — both prep all-leaguers.

CSM's deadly 1969 placekicker Ron Palla is back too. The ex-South San Francisco High star tied a Bulldog mark with 21 consecutive conversion kicks last season. One of his three field goals traveled 40 yards. Palla was third in team scoring with 31 points behind Scott's leagce leading 72 points and Chiurco's 42.

For the record, Chiurco carried the ball 162 times for 801 yards (4.9 average) and Scott was second on the team with 369 yards on 78 carries (4.9 average).

While Scott led the way in pass receiving with 29 catches for 556 yards and eight scores, Chiurco was next with 17-156-1. Chiurco also completed both of his pass attempts — for 40 yards and a TD — when he was pressed into duty in the season finale at CCSF.

Women Continue DC Softball Play

The Women's Slo-Pitch Softball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, is continuing play each Sunday afternoon at Westlake Park.

The third round of play resulted in an easy victory for the Odd Balls as they downed Club First Cabin with a final score of 29-5. Pat Scott led the Odd Balls with a home run and two singles to bring in four runs with Linda Torres accounting for a triple.

Jenny Strauss connected for three doubles with a total of five runs in six times at bat. Mary Anderson sparked Club First Cabin with several exciting plays at third base.

A close game finally gave C&L Garage a victory over the 66 Sluggers with a final score of 15-13. C&L Garage took an early lead when they scored three runs during the first inning. They held a 10-0 lead going into the fourth inning. With the bases loaded, Loretta Stamps of the Sluggers hit a grand slam to start the scoring and moved her team to a 11-10 lead going into the fifth inning.

C&L Garage added five runs to their scoring total while the Sluggers connected for two home runs by JoAnn Stamps nd Loreta Anderson. C&L managed to maintain their narrow lead as pitcher Gretchen Flores held the Sluggers to a no-hit inning.

Play will continue for three weeks each Sunday, starting at 1 p.m.

Brunan Leads SFS Defense In Workouts

Grant Cvitanich, a 250 pound junior from San Bruno, as expected, is leading the defense in early football drills at San Farncisco State College.

For two straight seasons San Francisco State's football team has wallowed in the unfamiliar squalor of the Far Western Conference's slums. It is a thoroughly repugnant neighborhood. You can't go out to play without being beaten by a Pioneer, Hornet, Lumberjack or Wildcat and no one ever comes to see you.

The high rent district still has a no vacancy sign on it but eviction notices could be drawn up if Vic Rowen's urban renewal program takes shape and motivates the Gators to a more meaningful existence — like winning.

Last season's disaster marked the first time in 17 years that the Gators have finished with a losing mark but judging from numbers alone 1970 could be much brighter.

Rowen has 75 varsity hopefuls drilling for the season opener September 12 with the Alumni at Cox Stadium.

The Gators won't play one that counts until the 19th when they travel south for a meeting with Dandy Danny Pastroini and his Santa Clara playmates.

Mulder Wins

Al Mulder successfully defended his title in the Daly City Recreation Division Summer Horseshoe Pitching Tournament by defeating Don Koehler in three straight games. Mulder came from behind after being two games down to force Don into a sudden death playoff.

Tournament competition lasted for over seven hours on the Westlake Park Horseshoe Pits and featured such local stars as Joe Gerack, Ron Riggs, Jerry Judge, Fred DeJarlais and John Zupancic.

Our Redeemer's Worship Slate Told By Pastor

Pastor Bill G. Willms of Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church announced that beginning September 13, worship services will be held at 8:30 and 11 a.m. each Sunday.

Nursery care is provided during the 11 o'clock worship hour.

The church is located at El Camino Real and Southwood Drive, South San Francisco.

Rally day, the beginning of the year's Sunday school program, has been set for September 13. Classes are to be held at 9:45 each Sunday morning. The Sunday school program offers classes for children three years of age, through the adult level.

Families interested in further information are encouraged to contact the church office.

Kids Day At Westlake Center

It will be Kids' Day in Westlake Shopping Center September 12 when Westlake merchants stage their annual gala for young and old.

Highlighting the program at 1 p.m. will be Sgt. Sacto, star of his own daily television show on Channel 44.

He will distribute autographed pictures.

The annual Kids' Day lunch also will be served on-the-mall: Coca Cola, and hot dog, bun and mustard for a dime

This will mark Sgt. Sacto's second appearance in Westlake. He starred in last year's Kids' Day. Thousands of his fans have already met him at the Ice Capades, Grant Nation-Marine World and Channel 44.

Visiting hours for Sgt. Sacto will be from 1 to 3 p.m. The special Kids' Day lunch will be served beginning at noon, continuing until sold out.

Offer Reward For Vandals

A reward of $25 for the apprehension and conviction of vandals will be offered in the Jefferson Elementary School District, trustees agreed last night.

Colma School Is Improved

Preliminary plans for an expanded administrative wing at the Ben Franklin Intermediate School in unincorporated Colma have been approved by trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The work is designed to improve the facility, school officials have pointed out. During the summer, the school was painted and dirt areas concreted as first steps of the program.

Adult Education Program Signups Start September 14

Jefferson High School Adult Education classes will start registration September 14.

This fall Serramonte High School will join the growing family of Adult Education campuses in the Daly City-Pacifica district.

Serramonte will be open on Thursday evenings only and will offer five courses: beginning typing, opera workshop, perception workshop, resins and fine arts, clothing and dressmaking, and wood and shop skills. Registration for these classes will be held on Thurday, September 17, in the classroom.

Four other campuses, Jefferson, Westmoor in Daly City, and Oceana and Terra Nova in Pacifica, will offer a broad spectrum of courses that include driver training, theory and practice for the beginner who would care to be driving by winter; food preparation and cooking, for single adults, male or female, the newlywed who wants to know or the many competent kitchen artisans who would enjoy expanding their abilities into areas of culinary refinement and mystique;

Figure drawing for the artist who would master anatomical structure; posture and exercise for the ladies; home gardening and landscaping, beginning or advanced, for the home gardener contemplating spring, summer, or fall horticultural arrangements; and the ever-popular investment course, how to place your money and why.

Current literature, as well as effective speech, rapid reading, and semantics, can give an evening of pleasure to any adult stimulated by the exploration of ideas, theories, and concepts of life, or the tantalizing exchange of thoughts in the "now" world of human interests; while U.S. history, sociology, world affairs, and civics are at hand for those adults desiring an understanding of "how" it all began and why it is "like it is."

Adults who want a working knowledge of French, German, Italian, Greek, or Spanish can acquire it in the foreign language curriculum with a special offering in Esperanto for those interested in international relations.

Clothing, dressmaking, knitting, and pattern making at all levels offer many hours of creativity for the imaginative homemaker, with a home maintenance and repair course for men and women available to aid homeowners in the repair and enhancemet of their property and appliances. The course in power tools and wood skills offers an opportunity to develop an individual project from the drawing-board to finished product for anyone refining his expertise in tool handling.

Job-etry skills can be readily achieved in the business education curriculum. Shorthand and transcription, typing and business machines — calculators, adding, and duplicators; bookkeeping, Civil Service preparation, and real estate are offered for any adult desiring job skills, wishing to refine present skills, or to reacquaint herself (or himself) with unused clerical and business techniques.

Adult students of art have a wide range of choices in painting from the application of techniques demonstrated in the acrylics workshop; oil painting, any level; study of media; portraiture; and figure drawing, with mosaics, liquid resins; and pottery and ceramics offering an appreciation and understanding of the plastic arts. For students whose artistic inclinations are more in tune with music and drama, a course in piano leads to the mastery of clefts, scales, octaves, and other intricacies of the keyboard. Cinematography, techniqeus of structure and development of moving-pictures; and photography, as an art form, include skills applicable to vocational or individual interests.

English for the foreign born, developing a facility in the English language, and preparation for citizenship courses are offered for those adults desiring a better understanding of and deeper participation in the American society.

A complete curriculum leading to a high school diploma is a major part of all these course offerings. For those students pursuing a high school diploma, a counseling service is available each evening in the office of the school to assist all students in evaluation of credits already earned and in choosing courses for the completion of requirements. The counselors also administer GED and vocational guidance tests for those students who would like to know where their geratest vocational success might lie.

The fall quarter will run from September 14 to December 3, a period of 12 weeks. Registration starts the evening of September 14 in the class of your choice and is continuous thereafter as space permits on a first come, first served basis. Brochures are presently in all schools of the Jefferson Union High School District in Daly City and Pacifica, the public libraries, and other municipal and private offices.

Sanitation District OK's Budget, Rate

The board of directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District adopted the District's 1970-71 Budget and voted not to raise the district's general tax rate of 28¾ cents.

The 1970-1971 buget totals $954,220, of which approximately $375,000 will be financed through ad valorum taxes and the remainder through revenues and reserves.

The Directors are (Daly City Councilman Frank Pacelli, Mayor Bud Lycett, and San Mateo County Supervisor Jim Fitzgerald.

The highlights of the budget were a general 6¾ per cent salary increase to all employees and the approval of a year's lease for a time-sharing computor terminal to handle the District's accounting and engineering problems.

The capital improvement portion of the Budget includes a total amount of $500,000 to finance the construction of trunk sewer facilities within the Westlake and Lake Merced areas. These facilities have been recommended in the District's adopted Master Plan.

Engineer-Manager Robert Bernicchi indicated that the anticipated increase in assessed valuation within the district will be approximately three per cent.

Burglar Alarm Does The Job

A silent burglar alarm and a quick response by South San Francisco police probably was responsible for saving the Budget Rent-A-Car at 124 Beacon St. from being burglarized.

Coast Jaycee Aim Is To 'Get Involved'

The Pacifica Jaycees, under president Ken Addleman, has initiated a "Get Involved" program and have decided to "do something" in the community.

Areas of action include drug abuse, pollution, garbage removal, beach clean-up, and youth.

Starting off with the September 9 meeting the theme will be drug abuse, featuring Captain Mel Nelson of the Pacifica Police Department as guest speaker.

Captain Nelson has been noted for his campaign against the use of drugs, and will speak to the Jaycees on a "gut level."

The Pacifica Jaycees are deeply concerned with the rising number of young people who are involved in the drug scene, Addleman emphasized.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the VFW hall on Paloma Road, near the Sharp Park Beach. Interested men are invited to attend.

Cal Mock, first vice president, said, "A lot of people talk, but we have a number of Jaycees, who are anxious to do something. We plan to follow this meeting with a drug forum."

He added, "We are not limited to just these areas of action. It's time the Pacifica Jaycees played a more important role in our community."

Ten Year Old Wins Westlake Color Contest

From more than 30,000 Back-to-School Coloring Contest booklets, distributed by sponsoring Westlake Shopping Center, 33 happy boys and girls (in school grades first through eighth) have been adjudged winners and today are the recipients of prizes totaling $750.

Prize booklets are on display in Westlake's Penney Store windows and all winners have been notified through the mails.

The contest ended August 31 at 2 p.m. The judging committee, composed of neighboring college art students, have worked since that time determining the very best from the deluge of entries.

Grand prize winner was 10-year-old Julius Van Kesteren of 431 South Mayfair Avenue, Daly City. Julius is in the fifth grade and attends Fernando Revera School. For his coloring efforts young Van Kesteren received a beautiful, portable television set from Westlake's Kay Jewelers.

Following are the youngsters deemed winners in the contest which ran the entire month of August:

BARBIE DOLL WINNERS — Janine Marticarerra (first grade) 536 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City; Nancy Widfeldt (second grade) 203 Garden Lane, Daly City; Susan Theis (third grade) 65 Castenada Avenue, San Francisco, and Deborah Ernst (fourth grade) 64 Rockford Avenue, Daly City.

HOT WHEEL SETS — S. Wiedel (first grade) 2701 Medina Drive, San Bruno; Nick Saloedo (second grade) 167 Huntington, Daly City; Joe Fraher (third grade) 350 Glenwood Avenue, Daly City, and Rory Brooks (fourth grade) 4468 Callan Boulevard, Daly City.

MOD WATCHES — Karen Michels (fifth grade) 308 Northgate, Daly City; Annie Hipolito (sixth grade) 459 Northaven, Daly City; Colleen Ryan (seventh grade) 61 Creston Avenue, Daly City, and Marie Pavini (eighth grade) 637 Frances Avenue, San Francisco.

TRANSISTOR RADIOS — Edward Boyd (fifth grade) 49 Rener Street, Colma; Todd Boat (sixth grade) 192 Santa Barbara, Daly City; Rickey Harper (seventh grade) 1182 Market Street, San Francisco, and George Pineda (eighth grade) 459 Northaven, Daly City.

$25 MERCHANDISE ORDERS — Karen Koerpel (first grade) 35 Cliffside Drive, Daly City; Suzanne Thomas (second grade) 897 Forty-seventh Avenue, San Francisco; Grace Barbero (third grade) 2163 Forty-third Avenue, San Francisco, and Lynne Schlicht (fourth grade) 160 Frankfort, Daly City. S. Borghello (first grade) 214 Campana, Daly City; Dean Rally (second grade) 42 Lakemeadow, Daly City; Steven Ross (third grade) 1125 Fassler, Pacifica, and Jack Ho (fourth grade) 94 Ninetieth Street, Daly City.

$25 MERCHANDISE ORDERS — Paul Papageorge (fifth grade) 74 Hillview Court, Daly City; Joey Malonzo (sixth grade) 231 South Mayfair, Daly City; Henry Sage (seventh grade) 1910 Otis Drive, San Francisco, and Ed Avanzino (eighth grade) 91 Parkside, Daly City. Karen Cook (fifth grade) 1767 Thirty-third Avenue, San Francisco; Kay Mervis (sixth grade) 14 Clearview, Daly City; Mary Ann Gray (seventh grade) 1183 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City, and Janeile Ganem (eighth grade) 326 Miramar, San Francisco.

Westlake Center Bringing Back Jett's Petting Zoo

Goats eat paper name tags and nibble at little girls' dresses and this, among other things, is what is in store for children next week — Monday through Saturday — when Jett's Petting Zoo returns to Westlake Shopping Center.

More than 50 tame animals, gathered from all over the world, will be on-the-mall for youngsters to touch, pet, stroke and chuck under the chin. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, except Wednesday and Friday when the zoo will remain open until 9 o'clock.

Shopping Center advertising director Gene Perry said the petting zoo is free to all visitors, but that there will be a nominal charge for kiddie rides accompanying the Jett presentation.

Alfalfa pellets will be made available from vending machines if children desire to hand-feed their favorites.

The Jett's Zoo was first presented in Westlake last September. It proved so popular it is being brought back.

STUDENTS

There are an estimated 17,588,079 high school and junior high school students in U.S. Public schools.
